—EXEMPTION PROPOSED—

State May Be Money Haven

IF LEGISLATURE AGREES WITH SEN. CARPENTER

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff has prepared for legislative consideration a proposal which he believes "will make Nebraska a national haven for the location of money, stocks and bonds."

The proposal is contained in an amendment he has drafted for LB409, a Carpenter bill presently being held by the Judiciary Committee. The bill itself proposes a vote of the people on a constitutional amendment which would exempt from taxation intangible property of pension, profit-sharing or other employee benefit trust funds.

Other Aspects

Carpenter's amendment would additionally include as tax-exempt "intangible property owned by non-residents of this state held in trust by a trustee domiciled in this state and not employed in carrying on any business in this state."

The proposal, Carpenter told The Star, will have "a tremendous impact" and could bring to Nebraska for deposit intangibles from all across the nation.

Nebraska would benefit economically, he said, by the "use" of such intangibles.

Once the money were used here, Carpenter noted, it would also be eligible for taxation. But it would be the user who was taxed, not the owner, he said.

Money Going Out

At the public hearing on LB409, Carpenter had told Judiciary Committee members that millions of dollars is now taken out of the state because of the intangible tax on employee pension funds.

The bill, as written, he said, would lure such funds back. His proposed amendment would attract more from other states, Carpenter declared.

The entire realm of taxation of intangible property will be explored later by the Legislature in an amended form of LB405.

An amendment adopted by the Revenue Committee would eliminate all distinctions among classes of intangibles and impose a flat one mill tax.

Under the proposal, stocks in domestic corporations would be subject to the tax. They are now exempt. Money and accounts receivable are currently taxed at a rate of 2.5 mills. Stocks and bonds are taxed at 4 mills of actual value.

Carpenter led the move in committee to reduce the intangible rate and broaden its coverage.

A hearing on the proposal has been scheduled for later this month.

Odd Twist Repeated

Easter egg hunting has taken an unusual twist for a second time at the G. J. Kontras home, at 1132 Aldrich Rd. "Maybe you'll find a nest of rabbits just like your brother did," Mrs. Kontras told her daughter, Margaret Sue, Saturday night.

Margaret Sue, 8, did just that Sunday morning when she found a nest of 4 small rabbits in the Kontras' yard. She's shown in the picture above.

She duplicated her older brother James' discovery of 10 or 11 rabbits on Easter Sunday in 1954, when after being sent out to hunt for eggs he came back and reported to an incredulous family, "I found the Easter bunny." He's shown, with his find, in the picture at left which was printed in The Star in 1954.

Neutral Laotian Reports

BUT EVEN HE IS DUBIOUS

Phong Savan, Laos (U)—Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma said Sunday he obtained a pledge from feuding military factions in the Plain des Jarres to stop fighting while he tries to patch up their differences.

The neutralist head of Laos' coalition government made the statement to reporters after an all-day meeting with the military leaders.

Despite the statement, however, an air of uncertainty prevailed as to whether a cease-fire will be respected. Souvanna himself appeared doubtful, saying, "I will see if my instructions given to them not to fight will be respected."

Met With Generals

The premier met with Gen. Kong Le, commander of the neutralist troops, Gen. Counlany Sankou, commander of the communist Pathet Lao forces, and Col. Deunne leader of a dissident group of neutralists.

Later he talked with reporters in this small town in the northern part of the Plain des Jarres.

He is trying to put an end to fighting which flared March 31 in the Plain des Jarres when the Pathet Lao sought to whittle down Kong Le's authority and expand their control over the region. Was Jointly Held

The area was jointly held by the Pathet Lao and neutralists when the 14-nation conference reached agreement in Geneva last July to end the civil war and guarantee Laos' independence and neutrality.

There have been fears continuing hostilities might wreck Souvanna Phouma's coalition government, in which neutralists share veto powers with the rightwing and pro-communists. That could plunge Laos into another civil war in which the Pathet Lao would have the upper hand.

Souvanna Phouma was accompanied to the Plain des Jarres area by his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao.

Others making the trip from Vientiane were British Ambassador Donald Hopson and Soviet Ambassador Sergei Afanassiev and the 3 international control commissioners Avtar Singh of India, Marek Tych of Poland and Paul Bridle of Canada.

The two ambassadors represent the co-chairmen of the Geneva conference.

7 Ships Probe Depths For Sub

Portsmouth, N. H. (UPI)—Seven ships helped probe the dark depths of the Atlantic Ocean Sunday in search of the ill-fated submarine Thresher with 129 men aboard while relatives attended Easter services in black instead of brighter attire.

A Navy court of inquiry attempts Monday to pinpoint more exactly what occurred aboard the submarine just before its death rattle was heard Wednesday morning by two Naval officers aboard a surface vessel.

Twin memorial services also will be held Monday at Groton, Conn., and at Squalus Memorial Hall here. After the services, a floral replica of the submarine will be flown out to sea and dropped over the last known position of the vessel.

Expected to testify Monday is Lt. Cmdr. Stanley Hecker, skipper of the submarine rescue ship Skylark which accompanied the ill-fated Thresher on its test dive Wednesday 220 miles off Cape Cod.

Hecker and Lt. (jg) James D. Watson of Aurora, Ill., the navigator aboard the Skylark and a 23-year Navy veteran, said they listened over an underwater telephone to the final moments of the Thresher.

Watson told the inquiry court he heard a "muted, dull thud" just moments after the crew of the Thresher tried desperately to surface the vessel before it apparently broke up.

The watery grave of the nuclear-powered Thresher has not yet been located. Seven vessels, including two specially equipped oceanographic research ships, were in the area of the sinking Sunday searching for the sub's grave.

Taking part in the search at sea are the destroyers USS Warrington, USS Sullivan, research ships Atlantis II and Gillis, the submarine rescue ship Sunbird, the sub Redfin and the Polarix submarine Thomas Jefferson. The USS Rockville, an escort patrol craft with special sonar gear aboard, is expected to arrive at the scene Monday.

Capt. C. H. Morrison, commander of Destroyer Squadron 24, heads the search at sea aboard the Warrington. The destroyer USS Hazelwood, which carried newsmen and photographers to the scene, returned to Newport, R. I., Sunday.

Atlantis II is a research ship of the Woods Hole (Mass.) Oceanographic Institution. It has highly sensitive electronic equipment aboard and took soundings Sunday of the ocean floor near where debris believed from the Thresher was found.

Red Toy Horse All That's Left Of Airliner

Oslo, Norway (U)—A Vickers Viscount airliner belonging to Iceland Air (Flugfelag Islands) crashed and burned Sunday on a hilltop just west of Oslo, killing all 12 persons aboard. A bright red wooden toy horse was virtually the only recognizable thing that survived the Easter Sunday tragedy.

The 4-engine turboprop plane was making its weekly flight to Iceland from Copenhagen by way of Oslo and Bergen, Norway. The holiday cut down the normal load of 30 to 50 passengers.

Among the victims was actress Anna Borg, 60, wife of well-known Danish royal theater actor Poul Hennrich. She also had been a prominent member of the Royal Theater Company and since 1958 had opened a stage director and dramatics teacher. The plane was approaching Fornebu Airport when it suddenly nosedived into a low, wooded hilltop on Nesocya Island amid suburban homes—the nearest only 200 feet away.

A REAL BARN-BURNER

A recent fire which destroyed a granary on the Laverne Kneip farm near Byron brought volunteer firefighters hustling from Byron, Hardy and Ruskin. Heat from the fire was so intense that one fireman, above right, shielded his face as he aimed nozzle at flames. Other efforts of the volunteers, as seen by Dean Terrill's camera, are shown on Page 8.

Queen's Guard Hiked For March Of Pacifists

London (U)—Extra guards were posted around Queen Elizabeth's residence at Windsor Castle Sunday as 7,000 demonstrators marched through town in an anti-H-bomb crusade. A few marchers tried to scale the castle walls but were arrested. The others passed peacefully.

Five battalions of civil police were brought in to reinforce the double detail of scarlet-coated, bearskin-hatted Scots guardsmen stationed around the castle precincts.

The marchers were embarked on what has become an annual pilgrimage for British pacifist groups—the 50-mile Eastertime trek to London from Aldermaston, where Britain's atomic weapons arsenal is sited. The march is due to wind up Monday in London.

The mile-long procession streamed into Windsor after an overnight stop at nearby Slough. Police refused to let them through Windsor streets until the Scots guards had completed their regimental guard changing ceremony at the castle.

Authorities were specially touched about the march this year following an incident in which secret government defense plans were disclosed by a ban-the-bomb group.

The group, calling itself the "Spies for Peace" movement, distributed pamphlets revealing the location of British government establishments which would become operational in the event of nuclear attack.

The principal organizers of the Aldermaston march disclaimed any responsibility for the disclosure. Authorities regard the leak as a contravention of the Official Secrets Act.

Nevertheless, several hundred marchers, evidently briefed beforehand, broke away from the main column of march Saturday and invaded a secret government establishment on the route.

Scotland Yard's special branch—the department concerned with counterespionage—sent agents out to interrogate marchers about the leak.

The government is reported to have called for a special report on just how the secret plans got into the hands of the pacifists—a matter particularly embarrassing in view of the recent crop of spy scares in Britain.

Nine Injured As Passenger Train Derails

Lomax, Ill. (U)—At least 9 persons were injured Sunday night when the Texas Chief, a Santa Fe passenger train bound for Houston, derailed near this western Illinois community.

A Santa Fe spokesman said at least 250 passengers were aboard the 20-car train which left Chicago at 6 p.m. CST. He said all the cars left the rails.

Sacred Heart Hospital at Mt. Madison, Iowa, about 15 miles away, said 9 injured passengers had been admitted by midnight. A spokesman said none appeared to be injured critically.

The Henderson County sheriff's office said floodlights were being rushed to the scene, which is about one-half mile west of Lomax.

The derailment blocked both the Santa Fe's main lines, a spokesman said. He said passengers would be taken by bus to Galesburg, Ill., and transferred to another Santa Fe train. He said it would use Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad tracks to Bucklin, Mo., and then go back on the Santa Fe line.

Pension Bill Would Hike Tax Burden

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A legislative bill that would increase the tax burden on Lincoln residents for fire and police pension benefits is slated for legislative committee hearing Wednesday.

LB 639 proposes a substantial increase in pension benefits for the city's 282 firemen and policemen.

Mayor D. L. Tyrrell and the City Council have expressed serious concern over the bill and its effect on the city's tax burdens.

Lincoln's present fire-police pension liabilities total $6,530,254, according to an actuarial study made for the city by Gabriel Roeder, Smith & Co.

This pension liability is only $1 million less than the city's general obligation indebtedness of $7,515,000 for all other purposes.

$300,000 Needed

City Finance Director James Mallon says more than $300,000 will be required in the 1963-64 budget to fund the pension liabilities.

This is nearly 9% of the total property tax levied and appropriated by the city for the current fiscal year, he points out.

Under present state law applicable to Lincoln, firemen and policemen may retire at age 55 and 25 years service at $135 per month.

However, there are still 41 firemen, with pension eligibility under an 1895 law since repealed, that can retire at half-pay after 21 years service.

Man Drowns At South Sioux City

South Sioux City, Neb. (UPI)—Crystal Lake claimed its first drowning victim of the year Sunday afternoon. He was Lester Minear, an elderly Sioux City, Iowa, man.

Dr. Max Wainwright said he was approximately 150 feet from the west edge of the Crystal Lake shore line which is located on the western edge of South Sioux City.

Man Arrested For Selling Easter Eggs

New Orleans (UPI)—William Conroy, 38, faced gambling charges Sunday in connection with selling Easter eggs.

Vice squad officers arrested him in Canal St., the city's main thoroughfare, where he was doing a land office business peddling at 16 cents each, hollow plastic Easter eggs that normally sell as two for a nickel.

Police said Conroy, who told them he sold about 34,000 eggs in the previous few days, was advertising the eggs as containing "up to half a dollar."

A woman customer found only a nickel inside her egg and complained to police. Plainclothesmen who investigated said they bought 8 eggs. Five contained a nickel each and 3 each had a penny and a few jelly beans inside.

Three bodies were thrown clear while the others were charred beyond recognition. Only the tail section of the plane was found, with the rudder and elevators fairly intact.

The crash scene lies along the normal landing run from the Oslo Fjord side of Fornebu Airport only a couple of miles from the runway's end. The plane hit the ground about 10 minutes after a sleet shower passed over the area.

The cloudy base was low at the time. It lifted somewhat during the afternoon, revealing airliners passing only about 100 feet above the wreckage as they came in for a landing at the airport 5 miles west of downtown Oslo.

With Spring, Parliament Turns To Ponder Pelicans

London (UPI)—'Tis spring, the time of year when Parliament turns to thoughts of pelicans—especially Paul the loner of St. James's Park. Or is it Pauline?

The problem of the sex and mating habits of pelicans came up a year ago in the House of Commons but nothing was decided even after an M.P. suggested the use of a divining rod to determine their sex.

The matter is to come up again when the Commons resumes after its Easter recess. J. A. Stodard, an Edinburgh Conservative, says he will ask the public building and works minister about a mate for Paul.

There Were 3
Once there were 3 pelicans in the park—Daphne, Paul and Wilfred, a state which prompted Sir Tufton Beamish to rise and inquire delicately of the former works minister, Lord John Hope, if anyone knew their sex.

"A post mortem examination has revealed that Wilfred, one of the two North American white pelicans, who recently had to be destroyed following an accident, was appropriately named," Lord John said.

"The survivor of this pair is now sharing the same rock as an Eastern white (pelican.) Time will show whether it gets the bird."

"Just Friends?"
"Can my noble friend say whether, from his observations of their activities on the rock, he is yet able to guess where there is likely to be a happy event before long, or whether they should be described only as 'just friends'?" pursued Sir Tufton.

"It is difficult to say yet," replied Lord John. "But, as the rock warms up during the summer, we may, perhaps, find out."

But they never did. Daphne, the American bird, flew into a tree and had to be destroyed.

That left only Paul. "The names are really a bit of guesswork," an employee of St. James's Park said Sunday. "There is no way we can tell whether Paul should not, in reality, be named Pauline."

One Sure Way

To this end Labor M.P. F. G. Bowles volunteered last year that there was one sure way. "The way," he told Lord John, "would be to take a needle and thread stuck in a cork and hold it over the fowl in question. If it is a male the will go in a direct line, and if it is a female, the cork will go round in circles."

"I was aware that there was a theory that this worked with ladies," Lord John replied. "But I did not know it did with pelicans. I will look into it."

But Bowles said Sunday he never did—another opposition complaint against the Conservative government.

And there sits Paul, waiting. Or is it Pauline?

Omaha Woman Dies In Mishap

Gretna (AP)—An Omaha woman was killed in a two-car collision Sunday at the intersection of State Highways 50 and 370 about 5 miles east of here.

Officers said she was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Floyd E. Barber, which was in collision with a car driven by Dwight Lockhart of Springfield, Neb.

Nine Injured As Passenger Train Derails

Lomax, Ill. (AP)—At least 9 persons were injured Sunday night when the Texas Chief, a Santa Fe passenger train bound for Houston, derailed near this western Illinois community.

A Santa Fe spokesman said at least 250 passengers were aboard the 20-car train which left Chicago at 6 p.m. CST. He said all the cars left the rails.

Sacred Heart Hospital at Ft. Madison, Iowa, about 15 miles away, said 9 injured passengers had been admitted by midnight. A spokesman said none appeared to be injured critically.

The Henderson County sheriff's office said floodlights were being rushed to the scene, which is about one-half mile west of Lomax.

The derailment blocked both the Santa Fe's main lines, a spokesman said. He said passengers would be taken by bus to Galesburg, Ill., and transferred to another Santa Fe train. He said it would use Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad tracks to Bucklin, Mo., and then go back on the Santa Fe line.

Cutting Horse Brings High Price

By GLENN KREUSCHER

Denton horse people call it the "War Leo Story."

Take a well-bred horse, supply plenty of training, conditioning and showing, and someone is going to pay you for your efforts, especially so if the horse is tops in cutting contests and attracts the attention of a nationally recognized rider.

This is what happened here to Dave Martin, and to the tune of $40,000, paid for the quarterhorse stallion, War Leo, winner of 34 grand championships, futurity winner; and one of outstanding colts in 7 states.

The new owner, J. Norman Roberts of New Orleans, La., is going to see that War Leo gets to the nation's top cutting horse events. His rider will be Glenn McWhorter of Throckmorton, Tex., who was among the top 3 nationally rated cutting horse competitors with a horse called King's Michelle.

When King's Michelle died, McWhorter and Roberts set out to find the horse that they thought could offer the best chances of keeping McWhorter mounted with a horse that could produce those "top nuns."

When the search ended at Denton, McWhorter said, "I believe I have found the horse I was looking for. In fact I believe War Leo will do better for me than any horse I have ever ridden."

Wile Made

The first trial came a day after the purchase, and with it came the first win for McWhorter in a Salina Kan. cutting event.

Those that think producing high selling horses is some thing that happens by accident have only to follow the Martin story to know there isn't much in the way of substitute for hard work and consistent efforts to produce winning horses.

Martin remembers his first horse trade—it happened when he was 9 years old—and since that time he has practically lived with horses.

"I have driven horses, mules, ridden about everything in different kinds of horses but feel that cutting horses provide one of the greatest futures in competition. The horseman will find," says Martin.

One Of First

War Leo was one of the first "Leo" bred quarterhorses to come to Nebraska. The main source of this breeding stems from the original Leo horse owned by Bud Warren of Perry, Okla.

Those that know Dave Martin's ability to select horses describe him as "a man that can look over 100 horses in a show and pick out those that have the best future for performance."

When Martin located War Leo he was for sale, but an other potential purchaser had an option that extended for another 24 hours.

Storm Hit

When a mammoth snow storm hit the area the other man gave up on his option and Martin purchased War Leo over the telephone.

"The first few weeks people didn't give me much chance of making a cutting horse out of War Leo, but after 6 months he was out of the novice class," said Martin.

As War Leo continued his wins many folks came to see him compete in events and last year horse owners from 7 states brought mares to the Martin farm for service from the stallion that was piling up championships.

Dave Martin makes one thing clear, he didn't like the idea of going out to the lot behind his house and not finding War Leo there. But he considered that the horse would have much more opportunity with a nationally recognized cutting horse rider.

"And War Leo deserved that chance," said the Martin family who consider the future of cutting horse contests as terrific.

Besides there is another Leo bred stallion to carry on at Martins.

War Leo and new rider get acquainted as Martin looks on.

By Glenn Kreuscher, Farm Editor

More emphasis on the economic aspects of the farm's bargaining power is a recommendation of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Research Advisory Committee at a recent annual meeting.

Meanwhile, we are fielding inquiries as to what happened to the suggested state beef cattle and retail meat investigation.

After being passed back and forth between different governmental bodies we lost track of just what is going to happen or if the idea was given up as not feasible.

Interest Unusual

We do have the results of a special report on the cattle situation that has been made by the secretary of agriculture Orville Freeman II may be that some state sources were unaware that this was being compiled nationwide.

The special beef cattle report made by Freeman reports unusual interest and concern over recent developments in the fed cattle market.

The report was reviewed and approved by the Outlook and Situation Board of the department for technical accuracy. What it tells might answer questions sought by Nebraskans and save the estimated $50,000 such a survey would cost.

The report explains in some detail that the dramatic price changes for fed cattle were a direct reflection of substantial changes in the fed steer beef supply situation.

Volume Down

Between June and November 1962, the volume of steer beef produced was reduced some 22% as feeders built up their inventory of cattle on feed. This was followed from November 1962 to February 1963 with volume in beef production that rose about 25%.

The resulting price slump was not out of line with magnitude of such a large shift in supplies, the report said. In addition, on the supply side slaughter of hogs and of broilers showed a substantial increase that added to the downward pressure.

The report further reminded those interested that such sharp changes in supply of fed cattle are not exceptional and that they have occurred periodically in the past with erratic shifts in 1948-49, 1952-53, and 1955-56, and even in 1960-61 resulting in sharp price changes and narrow profits or losses.

Prices Lag

The USDA views the present cycle of reduced prices as less extreme in its swing than previous ones.

Not will prices be cut so severely in this cycle as in the early 1950s, said the report.

The report said Prices of beef at retail have shown their usual tendency to lag behind live animal prices. It was suggested in the report that retail outlets be urged to make faster downward price adjustments to follow live prices paid farmers.

The report found no weak- ening in the demand for beef. Further, the report found that there is no evidence to indicate that imports have been the cause of the price break for fed steers and heifers.

The secretary of agriculture noted that very little high grade beef was imported and that he has no authority to limit imports for economic reasons. His authority over imports of meat animals is confined to inspection, sanitation and other requirements to prevent the dissemination of livestock diseases and to insure that imported meat is fit for human consumption.

Improvement Unlikely

The report says there is little likelihood of significant improvement in prices in the next several months. The difficult task for cattle feeders will be moving the immediate heavy supply of beef into consumption at a pace which will not distress markets further.

This can be done if cattle feeders do not hold cattle on feed beyond the time when they reach marketable grade, the report said.

There was a note of warning in the report for the hog producer.

Low Prices Seen

"These unsatisfactory developments for the cattle feeder raise a warning for the hog producer. If increased fattening materialize prices next winter will be as low as this past winter," said the report.

Those making the report suggested that if hog producers want some improvement they should reduce this year's fall pig crop at least 2 to 3 per cent.

Freeman reports that he has sent letters to all food retailer trade associations to urge retailers to reflect the reduction of live animal prices to consumers and to continue strong merchandising efforts for beef and pork in an effort to expand consumption in line with larger meat supplies.

When Martin located War Leo he was for sale, but an other potential purchaser had an option that extended for another 24 hours.

Storm Hit

When a mammoth snow storm hit the area the other man gave up on his option and Martin purchased War Leo over the telephone.

"The first few weeks people didn't give me much chance of making a cutting horse out of War Leo, but after 6 months he was out of the novice class," said Martin.

As War Leo continued his wins many folks came to see him compete in events and last year horse owners from 7 states brought mares to the Martin farm for service from the stallion that was piling up championships.

"And War Leo deserved that chance," said the Martin family who consider the future of cutting horse contests as terrific.

Besides there is another Leo bred stallion to carry on at Martins.

Kennedy Cool About Second Steel Raise

New York (U)—Lukens Steel Co. boosted prices $5 to $7 a ton on some of its products Sunday. The White House received the news with a strong implication that it was not yet ready to accept it as meeting President Kennedy's suggested criteria.

Until Lukens' price increase Sunday, Wheeling Steel Corp. had stood alone since last Thursday with a $6 a ton hike.

When questioned about Sunday's price boost in relation to the President's statement last Thursday on the steel price situation, White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said in Palm Beach:

"While the statement did not preclude selective price actions up or down, the President did point out strongly the national interest in overall price stability."

White House sources said President Kennedy had no advance notice of the price boost by Lukens, 20th largest producer in the nation and the country's No. 3 producer of sheet steel.

Birmingham Government Will Double

Birmingham, Ala. (UPI)—This Southern steel center beset with unemployment, racial and financial troubles, will have two municipal governments Monday.

Former Lt. Gov. Albert Boutwell and 9 city council members, winners of a recent city election, will be sworn into office Monday. Looking on will be the city's 3 incumbent commissioners, who refuse to leave office.

"The councilmen and I will go to court," Boutwell said. The oath-taking is simply to comply with the law and Boutwell said his government would not attempt to take over physically.

The situation is a result of conflicting state laws.

A 1955 law authorizing the City of Birmingham to change its form of government sets Monday as the day for the new regime to take office.

But another law—this one enacted in 1959—stipulates that the current government shall serve out its term. May or Ait Hanes and commissioners Eugene Connor and J. T. Waggoner have slightly more than two years remaining in their current terms and say they have no intention of leaving before then.

Between June and November 1962, the volume of steer beef produced was reduced some 22% as feeders built up their inventory of cattle on feed. This was followed from November 1962 to February 1963 with volume in beef production that rose about 25%.

STOP CORN ROOTWORM WITH THE SAME GREAT INSECTICIDE USED BY MIDWEST GROWERS FOR THE PAST 5 YEARS ...THIMET® 10-G

Growers across the country have been using THIMET for years... on potatoes, sugar beets, peanuts, cotton and other crops. Now Nebraska tests have proved THIMET best for corn rootworm control.

THIMET gives outstanding control of all rootworms including resistant ones.

Corn treated with THIMET 10-G, at planting time, consistently produces higher average yields than corn treated with any other recommended insecticide and at the low rate of 10 lbs. of granules per acre. (Potato growers are regularly using 30 lbs. to the acre).

THIMET granules, applied at planting, protect every corn plant right up to harvest. Root systems stay healthy for full feeding of the growing crop.

No problems handling THIMET. During the past years, THIMET 10-G has been used safely and effectively by thousands of growers large and small under every kind of condition.

THIMET comes packed in individual 10-pound bags... one bag treats one acre. There's no need to come in contact with THIMET granules at all. Just open the bag and empty into the hopper.

The label instructions on Cyanamid products and on products containing Cyanamid ingredients, are the result of years of research and have been accepted by Federal and/or State Governments. Always read the labels and carefully follow directions for use.

You know you'll have the best possible crop protection and corn yields when you use THIMET at planting.

Each THIMET carton contains six 10-lb. bags. One bag treats one acre.

Cutting Horse Brings High Price

More emphasis on the economic aspects of the farmer's bargaining power is a recommendation of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Research Advisory Committee at a recent annual meeting.

Meanwhile, we are fielding inquiries as to what happened to the suggested state beef cattle and retail meat investigation.

After being passed back and forth between different governmental bodies we lost track of "just what is going to happen" or if the idea was given up as not feasible.

Interest Unusual

We do have the results of a special report on the cattle situation that has been made by the secretary of agriculture, Orville Freeman. It may be that some state sources were unaware that this was being compiled nationwide.

The special beef cattle report made by Freeman reports unusual interest and concern over recent developments in the fed-cattle market.

The report was reviewed and approved by the Outlook and Situation Board of the department for technical accuracy. What it tells might answer questions sought by Nebraskans and save the estimated $50,000 such a survey would cost.

The report explains in some detail that the dramatic price changes for fed cattle were a direct reflection of substantial changes in the fed steer supply situation.

Volume Down

Between June and November, 1962, the volume of steer beef produced was reduced some 22% as feeders built up their inventory of cattle on feed. This was followed from November 1962 to February 1963 with volume in beef production that rose about 25%.

The resulting price slump was not out of line with magnitude of such a large shift in supplies, the report said. In addition, on the supply side, slaughter of hogs and of broilers showed a substantial increase that added to the downward pressure.

The report further reminded those interested that such sharp changes in supply of fed cattle are not exceptional and that they have occurred periodically in the past with erratic shifts in 1948-49, 1952-53, and 1955-56 and even in 1960-61 resulting in sharp price changes and narrow profits or losses.

Prices Lag

The USDA views the present cycle of reduced prices as less extreme in its swing than previous ones.

"Nor will prices be cut so severely in this cycle as in the early 1950s," said the report.

The report said, "Prices of beef at retail have shown their usual tendency to lag behind live animal prices." It was suggested in the report that retail outlets be urged to make faster downward price adjustments to follow live prices paid farmers.

The report found no weakening in the demand for beef. Further, the report found that there is no evidence to indicate that imports have been the cause of the price break for fed steers and heifers.

The secretary of agriculture noted that very little high grade beef was imported and that he has no authority to limit imports for economic reasons. His authority over imports of meat animals is confined to inspection, sanitation and other requirements to prevent the dissemination of livestock diseases and to insure that imported meat is fit for human consumption.

Improvement Unlikely

The report says there is little likelihood of significant improvement in prices in the next several months. The difficult task for cattle feeders will be moving the immediate heavy supply of beef into consumption at a pace which will not distress markets further.

This can be done if cattle feeders do not hold cattle on feed beyond the time when they reach marketable grade, the report said.

There was a note of warning in the report for the hog producer.

Low Prices Seen

"These unsatisfactory developments for the cattle feeder raise a warning for the hog producer. If increased farrowings materialize prices next winter will be as low as this past winter," said the report.

Those making the report suggested that if hog producers want some improvement they should reduce this year's fall pig crop at least 2 to 3 per cent.

Freeman reports that he has sent letters to all food retailer trade associations to urge retailers to reflect the reduction of live animal prices to consumers and to continue strong merchandising efforts for beef and pork in an effort to expand consumption in line with larger meat supplies.

Birmingham Government Will Double

Birmingham, Ala. (UPI)—This Southern steel center, beset with unemployment, racial and financial troubles, will have two municipal governments Monday.

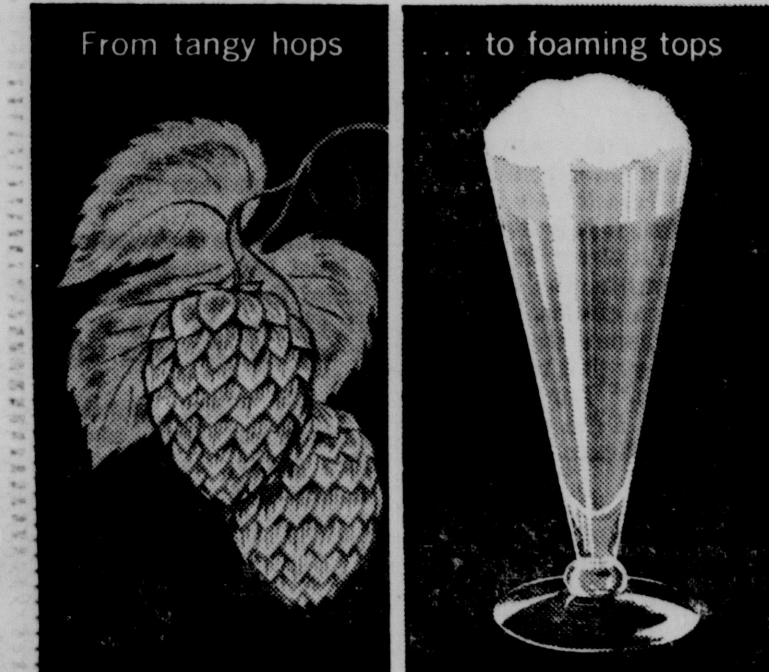

Former Lt. Gov. Albert Boutwell and 9 city councilmen, winners of a recent city election, will be sworn into office Monday. Looking on will be the city's 3 incumbent commissioners, who refuse to leave office.

"The councilmen and I will go to court," Boutwell said. The oath-taking is simply to comply with the law, and Boutwell said his government would not attempt to take over physically.

The situation is a result of conflicting state laws.

A 1955 law authorizing the City of Birmingham to change its form of government sets Monday as the day for the new regime to take office.

But another law—this one enacted in 1959—stipulates that the current government shall serve out its term. Mayor Art Hanes and commissioners Eugene Connor and J. T. Waggoner have slightly more than two years remaining in their current terms and say they have no intention of leaving before then.

STOP CORN ROOTWORM WITH THE SAME GREAT INSECTICIDE USED BY MIDWEST GROWERS FOR THE PAST 5 YEARS ...THIMET® 10-G

Growers across the country have been using THIMET for years... on potatoes, sugar beets, peanuts, cotton and other crops. Now Nebraska tests have proved THIMET best for corn rootworm control.

THIMET gives outstanding control of all rootworms...including resistant ones.

Corn treated with THIMET 10-G, at planting time, consistently produces higher average yields than corn treated with any other recommended insecticide... and at the low rate of 10 lbs. of granules per acre. (Potato growers are regularly using 30 lbs. to the acre).

THIMET granules, applied at planting, protect every corn plant right up to harvest. Root systems stay healthy for full feeding of the growing crop.

No problems handling THIMET During the past years, THIMET 10-G has been used safely and effectively by thousands of growers large and small under every kind of condition.

THIMET comes packed in individual 10-pound bags... one bag treats one acre. There's no need to come in contact with THIMET granules at all. Just open the bag and empty into the hopper.

The label instructions on Cyanamid products and on products containing Cyanamid ingredients, are the result of years of research and have been accepted by Federal and/or State Governments. Always read the labels and carefully follow directions for use.

You know you'll have the best possible crop protection... and corn yields... when you use THIMET at planting.

Each THIMET carton contains six 10-lb. bags. One bag treats one acre.

Broadcasters To Give Time To Lure Tourists

Forty-eight members of the Nebraska Broadcasters Association expect to donate $100,000 in time during the summer months on behalf of luring tourists to the state and urging residents to see their state first.

Harvey Swenson, Lincoln, chairman of the association's tourist promotion committee, said the coming week's program enters around a "vacation at home" theme.

The committee will cooperate with state agencies. Gov. Frank Morrison as part of his program is attempting to develop the Nebraska tourist trade.

State Interest Low In Migrant Worker Health

PROGRAM TO MEET DOMESTIC NEED INVOLVES U.S. GRANT

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska interest is low in a program for federal grants to meet health needs of domestic migratory farm workers and their families, the State Health Department reports.

Department officials sent announcements of the U.S. Migratory Health Act of 1962 to municipal officials in Nebraska's Panhandle counties, but received only one reply—and that one was negative.

Under terms of the 1962 act, the Public Health Service is authorized to make project grants to pay part of the cost of family health service clinics and other projects to improve health conditions and services for domestic migratory farm workers and their families.

No Money Yet

State Health Director E. A. Rogers said Sunday that to the best of his knowledge, Congress has not yet appropriated funds for the act, but if they become available, terms of the grant are such that any organization, whether public or private non-profit, would be eligible to apply for grants.

He noted that the department recently held a meeting with members of the Governor's Committee on Migratory Labor to determine what that group has been doing.

Membership of the committee, headed by Don Christenson of the Department of Labor's Employment Division, is made up, for the most part, of growers who "realize full well that they must compete in the labor market for the migrant labor they need to grow their crops," Dr. Rogers said.

"They are meeting and solving their own problems on their home ground," Dr. Rogers added, and "feel they do not need, and have stated they do not want, outside help."

An estimated 4,000 to 4,500 persons — largely beet field workers — make up the migratory labor force and their families which would be affected by the 1962 act.

In addition to the work being done by Christenson and his group, Dr. Rogers said, county agricultural and home agents have been working with the University of Nebraska Extension Division health educator on migratory farm family problems.

Scottsbluff Powwow

A planning committee, consisting of some half-dozen homemakers (wives of farmers who employ migrant workers) will meet in Scottsbluff soon with representatives of the Extension Division and county agents to exchange ideas on what can be done.

The Extension Service will then continue to work with resident homemakers and other Extension Club members on a leader training basis, to provide persons who will work with migrant families on a "neighbor-to-neighbor" basis, Dr. Rogers said.

In addition local health department officers, including public health nurses and a trained sanitarian, will be available as they have in the past to serve needs of migrant families, as well as permanent residents, he added.

State Health Department representatives also are available for consultation with the local people to meet their problems, Dr. Rogers said.

ARBOR DAY... date for formal start on Stuhr Museum.

Prairie Museum Rites April 22

Grand Island — Ground will be broken for the million-dollar Stuhr Museum on the Prairie Pioneer on the afternoon of Arbor Day.

Among participants in the ceremonies at 3 p.m. April 22 will be Gov. Frank B. Morrison; Mrs. Leo Stuhr, widow of the late Mr. Stuhr, and museum architect Edward Durrell Stone.

The building of the museum marks the inauguration of a large-scale plan designed to provide a suitable place to display reminders of the pioneer heritage of Hall County and Central Nebraska.

To be situated on an island in a large man-made lake, the museum structure will be placed upon a large concrete base or podium in the manner of ancient temples. The building, of white concrete, will be approached from the southeast over a wide causeway.

In addition, an outdoor exhibit — dubbed the Land of the Prairie Pioneer — will depict pioneer activities on a 60-acre tract. This development is planned around a section of unplowed original prairie to approximate conditions a century ago.

Leo Stuhr, a member of the Legislature during World War I, was the son of Peter and Anna Scheel Stuhr, pioneer settlers of Hall County.

In 1960 he set the museum plan in motion by offering to donate land along U.S. 30 east of Grand Island and contribute $25,000 toward it, if the public subscribed $75,000 more.

The Hall County Board accepted. When Mr. Stuhr died, he donated more land and between $250,000 and $500,000 to the project.

Phone Firms Charged With Labor Violations

Violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act by 12 Nebraska telephone companies and Emory C. Hunt Jr. of Blair have been alleged in an injunction suit on file in U.S. District Court in Omaha.

Hunt is sole proprietor of the Newport Telephone Co., with his office and principal place of business in the central offices of the Blair Telephone Co.

The defendant companies and communities in which they have telephone exchanges are:

Blair Telephone Co. (Blair, Fort Calhoun and Kennard); Arlington Telephone Co. (Arlington); Bassett-Springview Telephone Co. (Bassett); Central Nebraska Telephone Co. (Grant, Imperial, Sutherland, Palisade, Hayes Center and Venango); Eastern Nebraska Telephone Co. (Belden, Carroll, Macy, Meadow Grove, Osmond, Rosalia, Walthill and Winnebago); North-eastern Telephone Co. (Elgin); Northern Telephone Co. (Creighton and Nebraska); Oakdale Telephone Co. (Oakdale); Ponca Telephone Co. (Ponca); Public Telephone Co. (Arnold, Callaway, Evans, Oconto, Page and Stapleton); Skee-dee Independent Telephone Co. (Bloomfield, Center, Crofton, Verdine, Wausa and Wymont); Union Telephone Co. (Bloomfield, Center, Crofton, Verdine, Wausa and Wymont).

According to the complaint, the principal offices for all the defendant companies and Emory C. Hunt Jr. are maintained at the central offices of the Blair Telephone Co. That office controls and supervises all operations, including wage and payroll practices, according to the complaint.

It was filed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. It alleges that:

Nine defendant companies

(Arlington, Bassett-Springview, Eastern Nebraska, Public, Skee-dee, Union, North-eastern, Oakdale and Ponca) and Emory C. Hunt Jr., doing business as Newport Telephone, have violated the minimum wage provisions of the act.

Six defendant companies (Blair, Bassett-Springview, Eastern Nebraska, Public Telephone, Skee-dee Independent and Union Telephone) have violated the overtime provisions of the act.

Eleven defendant companies (Blair, Arlington, Bassett-Springview, Eastern Nebraska, Newport, Northwestern, Oakdale, Ponca, Public, Skee-dee and Union) have failed to maintain adequate time and pay records as required by the act.

Summary of Conditions

A trough of low pressure has developed from the Nebraska Panhandle northward into west central and north-east Montana, enhancing a vigorous south wind flow into central Nebraska and the Panhandle area. This wind is accompanied by warming temperatures eastward in the state.

A deep, upper-level trough off the Pacific coast is feeding warm air through the mountain region and into the plains, filling somewhat and beginning to form a cold front at surface from western Idaho down to the southern California coast. Some sort of a Pacific cold front is expected to move through the central and northern Rockies by Monday evening, and become aligned with a front from eastern Montana down to south central Arizona.

This trough is feeding moisture to high levels over the mountains, into the plains, and causing a high cloud shield to work its way gradually eastward, causing more cloudiness accompanied by mild to warm temperatures working across Nebraska and Iowa.

Colorful Development

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

You do a sort of double-take when you read a little squib from "Soundings" in the April publication of "Medicine At Work," a booklet of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association. It starts out by saying that a Tokyo dentist is spawning a teeth manicure fad. This is undoubtedly the end of the line so far as human frivolity is concerned. As you read on, reflecting upon the nonsensical nature of mankind, you see that the Tokyo dentist offers colors ranging from pearl at front to pink for dog teeth.

Well, this causes you to settle back a bite, bit rather, and think that maybe the human race hasn't lost its sense, at that. Still, colored teeth for dogs are a pretty strange thing. On the other hand, you know of a lot of people who are pretty goofy when it comes to the family mutt. Lincoln's City Council is considering an ordinance against the coloring of dogs, chicks, etc., for sale at such times of the year as this. But the ordinance doesn't cover dogs, which also can be and are sometimes dyed. On the other hand, the hair dyes that are sold these days might cause one to wonder what harm the same treatment could do an animal.

Of course, the objective is to prevent mistreatment of animals. It is believed that if the animals are not dyed, they will not be such a fad and, therefore, will not come into the hands of youngsters who have no particular desire for them, no understanding of them and no place for them. In other words, if all you want is a diversionary plaything for your child, make the animal a stuffed one.

However, let us get back to the dogs. The article from "Medicine At Work" no sooner restores one's faith in human nature than it proceeds to destroy it again. The story ends with pink teeth "at the corner of the smile." Well, now, a lot of people who own cats and dogs will swear the animals smile now and then but who would ever have thought it would be given such scientific support as this.

We remember a picture we saw of three kittens once and they certainly looked as though they were smiling. And we have had dogs in our own family that appeared now and then to be smiling. Actually, maybe the animals can change facial expressions to fit their mood. The smiling animal would probably reflect the nature of its master. If you are a happy and pleasant individual who likes to smile at the world, you would be more likely to have a smiling the same way. The theory may or may not support the assertion that dogs can smile but when you think about it, it goes a long way toward explaining why people might think the animal smiles.

Maybe the master just sees in the animal what he wants to see, what he would like reflected of his own personality in his pet. It is a fine bit (we got it right that time) of imagination and one that is sure to work because the animal itself can hardly challenge your position. After all, the owner of some ferocious looking animal is likely to comment that he (the animal) is gentle as a lamb. As the snarling beast leaps out at you with teeth (any color) bared, the owner casually assures you that he (again, the animal) won't bite, not even a little bit.

But bite or bit, it still gives you a fit. But the proud owner is convinced of what the dog is and isn't, regardless of what it does. So if a dog frowns and somebody calls it a smile, don't argue, just keep a safe distance away. If you get wounded, you will only be accused of bringing it on yourself. After all, dogs who don't bite are invariably provoked into it.

It is sort of like people who have a habit of accounting for their failures through the faults of some other person who has been a bad or poor influence upon them. Or, they fall back on the theme that everybody else is doing it, whatever it is, so it must be all right. They bristle, however, if accused of being unable to think for themselves.

And a lot of them can't think for themselves, as evidenced by the final meaning of the report in "Medicine At Work." The article says the Tokyo dentist is offering colors ranging from pearl at front to pink for dog teeth "at the corner of the smile." But this doesn't mean the teeth of dogs that smile; it means humans that smile and their teeth that are known as "dog teeth." These are the third teeth back from the center line which are characteristically known as equivalent to the teeth with which a dog holds something.

Therefore, it is a fact that people, at least some in Japan, are walking around with colored teeth. If yellow ever becomes a popular color, it could be a real blow to the anti-tobacco group. And it would be another point of rationalization for those hopeless addicts who must now fall back on calm nerves as an excuse for smoking.

Pope's Encyclical Exhibits Vision

WASHINGTON — On this Easter Monday, it may be appropriate to study the great encyclical for peace which Pope John gave the world last week.

Old, sick, tired, yet from the vantage point of his age and his great insight into the suffering of the world, he warned the world that if its peoples do not learn to live in peace they will destroy each other. He went further than any other leader of the Catholic faith in proposing a machinery for world understanding, blessing the United Nations, and suggesting the beginning of a world order to carry out the teaching of him who died on the cross nearly 2,000 years ago.

The John Birch Society, which has been busy ramming resolutions through some organizations, including the Wyoming legislature, won't like this encyclical a bit. Nor will the Rev. Billy Hargis and Rev. Carl McIntyre, and other right wing protesters who have been disowned by the leaders of the protestant churches. even some right wing leaders of the Pope's own church may raise their eyebrows, as they already have over the willingness of His Holiness to confer with Khrushchev's son-in-law.

Some people have been surprised that Khrushchev himself has praised the Pope, sent two Orthodox priests to attend the ecumenical conference, and is reported anxious to come to Rome.

However, important developments have been stirring inside the Vatican which have given the Western World its greatest inspiration for peace; and also inside the Kremlin which have given the Eastern World a new and sometimes turbulent direction toward peace.

Inside the Vatican, Pope John has given his support to the liberal government of Premier Fanfani of Italy, which has weaned the socialists away from the communists and by moderate reforms has won important victories over both the extreme left and the fascist right.

The Pope also received ex-Premier Mendes France of France, who is Jewish, a high potentate of the Grand Order of Freemasonry — which the Vatican previously branded as anti-religious — and who is bitterly opposing Catholic President De Gaulle. At about the same time, the French College of Bishops urged French Catholics to support the strikes which certainly were not helping De Gaulle's administration.

This is in contrast to the protest march which Francis Cardinal Spellman personally led against the gravediggers' strike some years ago in New York; and indicates the present policy of the Vatican to meet halfway some of the movements which are stirring the world today. Another indication of this policy was the statement by Cardinal Cicognani, long-time papal nuncio in Washington, now secretary of the Vatican, that the West should help feed the people of Communist China.

HANS SELYE

Profiles In Science

Hans Selye, born in Austria in 1907, is the originator of a wholly new concept of aging. It has to do with stress, a condition emphasized in modern medicine.

However, most lay people and many doctors, too, construe stress to mean emotional tension that brings about emotional disabilities.

Selye, professor and director of the Institute of Experimental Medicine and Surgery at the University of Montreal, takes a wider view of stress.

To him, it means wear and tear on the body, not only of extraordinary emotional and physical crises, but of the ordinary and unavoidable experiences of life as well.

The relationship between stress, as Dr. Selye thinks of it, and aging is obvious. The amount of stress one undergoes is the measure of one's life. The stress one meets and the way one meets it make one grow old in physical and emotional fitness if not in actual years.

True aging cannot be measured in years, Dr. Selye believes, but only by the erosion to which the body and mind have been subjected. Many men and women are closer to death at 45 than others are at 65 because they have been more harassed by the stresses of living.

The reaction of the body, both to normal and unusual stress, develops in three stages, Dr. Selye says. They are alarm, resistance and exhaustion. They affect our chemical balance, particularly that governed by the adrenal gland.

Dr. Selye, in his book "The Stress of Life," writes that people are born with a certain store of vitality. When that is used up, they die. Some of us "can take it" better than others because we adapt better. Each period of stress takes irreplaceable toll of our store, and although rest can regain almost all the life-force we have lost, it cannot regain quite all.

This constant depiction never stops, but it is minimized by meeting frustrations and shocks with the peace of mind that comes from an attitude of resignation or even indifference.

Reacting to stress resolutely hastens the depletion of our store of vital energy.

Because there is a difference in the way people meet stress, Dr. Selye believes these inevitable experiences that gradually wear us out can strengthen as well as weaken us. If we adapt in the right way, we are stronger the next time we face a crisis; but if we meet stress with anger and resentment, the toll is greater and our vitality is depleted faster.

Thus we grow old by the diminution of our physical ability to withstand and recover from the stresses we daily undergo.

PIERRE J. HUSS

Divided Trieste's Problems Plague UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.— One of the original cold war problems has come back to haunt the United Nations. That is the sticky question of Trieste, the sparkling jewel of a city on the Adriatic separating Italy from Yugoslavia at the most northerly point of the sea.

Since the end of 1954 the ancient Port of Romans, and until 1918 the Austro-Hungarian empire, has been functioning under the divided rule of Italy in "Zone A" and Yugoslavia in "Zone B." The take-over under the 1954 London agreement gave Italy and Yugoslavia the rights of occupying power but reserved to the natives in each zone of "the free territory of Trieste" special status generally entitling them to living as national minorities.

The 310,000 residents of the present Zone A, among them 63,000 Slovenes, were sorry to see the last of the American and British troops leave their area in October of 1954 while they watched none too enthusiastically as the Italians marched back into the territory held by them before the war but dominated in 1943 by the Nazis. But the population of 73,000, including 30,000 Italians, were even less happy when Marshal Tito's communist troops moved into Zone B, ending the long and bitter dispute over the "free territory" which plagued U.N. in 1947 after the Paris peace treaty.

In that year, the U.N. Security Council unanimously voted to approve the free territory, appoint a neutral governor, and set up in the area a U.N. police force to protect the enclave. In succeeding years, the dream of developing a model international territory under U.N. protection, to be used as guiding examples for peaceful solutions of explosive problems, fell apart under Soviet obstructionism.

Today, caught in the crossfire of cold war and economic rivalry between Italy and Yugoslavia, the once opulent seaport is suffering the consequences of any divided city—be that Berlin or Jerusalem. There are thousands of jobless in each zone, and conglomerations of refugees on each side. They are a millstone around the neck of Trieste, to say nothing of the complicated rule exercised zealously in each zone by Rome and Belgrade.

Now of a sudden the Trieste problem with all its underlying cold war issues has popped up again in U.N. The Provisional Council of Government, designated to apply and safeguard the rights of the national minorities in the Adriatic city, has formally placed into the lap of Secretary General U Thant grave charges that Italy and Yugoslavia are steadily absorbing Zone A and Zone B into their own sovereign territory and government.

The Council of Government stated bluntly in a direct appeal to the U.N. Security Council that it "denounces the seriousness of the situation which has been gradually created in both zones forming the free territory of Trieste" because Italy and Yugoslavia "are practically annexing the zones into their respective national territories."

A member of the council brought the documented charge to U.N. all the way from Trieste. It could not have come at a less opportune moment, since currently Nikita Khrushchev is wooing Tito and will go all-out to support him on a cold war question such as Trieste, while the United States and Britain as the former guardian powers have little inclination to offend and anger at the moment their good NATO ally, Italy.

But it could be that Khrushchev, perceiving an opportunity to do Yugoslavia a favor at this critical juncture of East-West power politics, will exploit the dispute in the Security Council to demonstrate that Tito can go right ahead and grab Trieste without risking U.N. interference. With Italy on the same side of the annexation fence, it is difficult to see how the U.S. and Britain could vigorously support any contention by other members of the Security Council that U.N. investigate the charges and perhaps take Trieste back under its wing until the dispute has been straightened out.

Nevertheless, the Provisional Council of Trieste has laid down with U Thant the following charges:

Italy has gradually omitted any designation of Trieste as a free territory and Yugoslavia has completely obliterated it. This, the council complaint holds, is a direct violation of all previous international agreements.

Italy is burying Zone A by incorporating it in a General Territorial Area of Vence, while Yugoslavia is dismembering its zone by incorporating it in the Yugoslavian communities of Slovenia and Croatia.

Both Italy and Yugoslavia are ignoring the national minorities by treating Italians of Trieste as Italian subjects and Yugoslavs of the free territory as Yugoslavs. The complaint observes that as a consequence "the preposterous fact is attained of a state without subjects."

Italy and Yugoslavia are drafting youths of their zones into military service, punishing them with midnight arrests and prison terms if they refuse to heed the call for military service.

Both Italy and Yugoslavia have transferred courts and judicial processes away from Trieste into their territories. This has led, the complaint specifies, to arbitrary court decisions detrimental to the interests of Trieste minority members.

The Provisional Council of Government in its complaint calls on U.N. to remedy these grievances and violations of earlier agreements, and to halt what it charges is an indiscriminate transformation of the Trieste enclave in both zones into fortified military areas closed to the public. The document of complaint concludes:

"Should the confidence in the fundamental right of the people, solemnly put forth in the Atlantic Charter, be destroyed by the very countries that had been the promoters, the consequences could prove to be the most hazardous and the peace in this part of the world would be put in jeopardy beyond remedy."

So falls apart another of the noble experiments by which a once war-weary world hoped to live in peace.

Something To Watch

At the direction of President Kennedy the various major agencies connected with government procurement, especially defense, will conduct a reassessment of a now rather well established practice of blacklisting.

Application of blacklisting has been exercised in the judgment of the agencies for causes ranging from unsatisfactory contract performance to conviction or suspicion of fraud, covering a middle ground of anti-trust infractions, tax evasion, violation of wage-hour laws and similar disagreeable things.

One cannot defend shift business dealings, and no attempt is made to do so, but the manner of applying sanction, itself, is not above examination. The power of the blacklist is an easy one to abuse and if it is to be protected against corruption it must observe similar safeguards that protect an individual. An affected concern has the right to be heard, the right to earn redemption and the right to be liberated from its disabilities by a show of merit. Something akin to due process of law is required to prevent punitive action against suppliers, to defend against star chamber practice. It is only a short step from acting righteously in the public interest to using cut-off power to channel business to favored clients. The users can be arbitrary and dictatorial.

The practice of all subtle and arbitrary powers is inherently bad medicine in any free society and where it must be employed it must be carefully watched. Acceptance of it is an invitation to extend it against people themselves.

Yugoslavia, The Ponderable

The new Yugoslav constitution is a document that will give political scholars a fresh and interesting field for study.

To communist and western interests alike who feel that their political cat should not be a spotted one the constitution is an unsatisfactory piece of thinking. It is positively emphatic both for communism and democracy but in some respects it is neither. It provides a bill of rights for people more assertive than our own. But at the same time it requires the people to get their protection from the Yugoslav communist party which more or less takes it all back to where it started. The rights will be observed if the party sees fit.

It also provides for relative short terms of power for the national leaders. But at the same time Tito, the present dictator, was given life tenure. Nevertheless, it is a mixture and possibly a tentative step toward an ultimate reconciliation of East and West political philosophies. Inconsistent as it may seem it may still be a document of transition.

In some respects Yugoslavia is a laboratory exhibiting some characteristics that are extremely interesting. It asserts its communist character yet it does not manifest a determination for world conquest. It admits of some real democracy and does not wage unremitting war with many capitalist practices. It coexists—separate from eastern communism but not allied with the west. It permits more liberty among its people than is usually to be expected of a communist society. That makes it a nation that no other nation actually embraces as friend and ally yet it is one that no nation is actually at grips with. In this pent up time that is a singular condition. One hopes that it is actually developing a political formula that will ultimately be useful to all.

A Severe Taskmaster

The political consequences of the brewing liquor scandal in New York is evidence of the severity with which the public can deal with its elected officials. It is considered certain by every political analyst that the scandals, involving payoffs for the granting of state liquor licenses, will react against Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in his bid for the presidency in 1964.

The issue will be thrown up as an indictment of his administrative abilities, just as Sherman Adams was an indictment of President Eisenhower and as certain top administrators were an indictment of President Truman. Nor is Rockefeller unique among governors. Many governors have had to suffer the political consequences of wrongdoing on the part of appointees.

There is a need to hold the top man accountable for those under him but when an appointee fails to live up to his public trust and the confidence that has been placed in him, the matter becomes one of mixed responsibility. Governor Rockefeller is no better or worse an administrator today than he was a year ago but many people will change their assessment of the man as a result of what has happened in his state.

The governor himself has been no part to any elements of the scandal and has moved to correct whatever abuses have been uncovered. The danger is that with too puritanical an approach to such matters, we contribute to the defeat of good and capable public officials because of the failures of bad ones. We not only have a scandal but we lose the services of those who would never knowingly be a part of any such scandal. It might be to our advantage now and then to give some thought to just exactly how directly accountable we want to hold an administrator for each and every action of his administration and its personnel.

World In State Of Political Change

WASHINGTON—What has happened in Canada — the uncertain outcome of the election, the probability of minority government and continuing instability—is symptomatic of the ferment of unrest in every corner of the globe.

At the start of the current year the top command of the State Department worked out a map of likely change for the upcoming 12 months. It showed that in 1963 or the first part of '64 at least 30 nations would change governments, the majority by peaceful and more or less orderly elections, others by predictable explosion touched off by deep internal conflict.

This means in most instances painful and even agonizing transition. Surveying the map of change American diplomats have tried to brace themselves for storms to come. Sudden and totally unexpected upheavals such as that in Guatemala will certainly add to the score.

But even with the foreseeable shifts the time of change is running strong. Within the framework of the Atlantic Alliance here is the outlook for the coming 12 months:

Italy—A campaign of increasing intensity will end with elections on April 28 and a new parliament on May 16. The estimate is that both the Christian Democrats and the Communists will hold roughly their present strength. In the '58 elections the CDS got 42 per cent of the vote, the Communists 23 per cent.

If this is the outcome it will mean that again the left-wing socialists headed by Pietro Nenni will hold the balance of power. They have collaborated with Premier Amintore Fanfani in his bold "opening to the left," pulling away from the Communists and giving the Fanfani government a greater stability in parliament.

Germany—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer recently hinted that he might change his mind about retiring in the fall. But his Christian Democratic party promptly put pressure on him to live up to his pledge. In recent elections the socialists have greatly increased their strength in Christian Democratic strongholds.

Together with the Free Democrats they dominate in several provinces. Berlin's mayor Willy Brandt has gained wide popularity.

Britain—It is virtually taken for granted here that in elections to be held this fall or some time in the first half of 1964 the Labor party will make sufficient gains to form a government. This may be in coalition with the Liberals. Harold Wilson, the Labor party leader and presumably the next prime minister, made an excellent impression on his recent visit here. Nevertheless there are deep private misgivings about a Labor government that would abruptly alter Britain's defense policy.

France—As a result of the miners' strike and other labor conflicts on the horizon, rising costs and inflation are plaguing the French economy. President De Gaulle's rating has dropped to 40 per cent. His elimination in one way or another cannot be ruled out.

Good news for all. With a touch of alarm. Mop-pets now springing their first baby choppers may live to be 150 years old.

This was reported recently in Louisville, Ky., by a Dr. Belle Boone Beard. Dr. Beard is a sort of hobbyist on aging—what makes the bones crack and the stairs so hard to climb these days.

The doctor said what with modern medicine and shifty little things medics are putting into pills, there was no reason for a modern lot to figure shuffling off until he was a century and a half.

"Old age never killed anyone," said the doctor.

An alert reporter for the Courier-Journal wrote this down. And well he should. For it is certainly news that today's tots will be next century's gaffers with odds shifting every whichaway on the insurance books.

Now for the note of alarm: "We are facing a calamity of longevity," said Dr. Beard. "How can we fill the day in a society where work is not necessary for the larger part of the population?"

The question is not answered—they seldom are in these statements of doom.

However, I have been thinking it over and figure to fill in the rough spots. (The University of Louisville hopes to get a $229,000 fund from the Government to study the problem. But in this business you are lucky to get carfare expenses and still you should come up with answers.)

For one thing, we will have to make it unpopular to get a lot of age on.

Newspapers contribute to this by long interviews with century-old gents. And when I was activating verbs for the dailies, I queried various people who had reached the golden hundred mark.

"And to what do you attribute your honorable age, sir?" we asked.

Well, some blamed it on clean living. "I neither smoked nor drank."

Some claimed a daily sparking with rattle whiskey was the Fountain of Youth.

"I drank a half pint a day and kept my mind on my work."

One elder refused to talk to me at all.

"They told me they was sending out a GIRL reporter," he complained. I figured what had kept him young and spry.

Fortunately, all this is going to take care of itself. Do you know how many Americans retire every single day? Three thousand!

Every day, 3000 men collect the company's gold watch and testimonial dinner. They knock off work and that's that.

Now if we are all going to live to 150, it is obvious that we will be retired about 4 times as long as we were on the job.

Therefore, we will be that more proficient. Retirement will be a profession.

A good, hard-working retired man will be in competition with his fellow retirees. There will be millions of them.

It will create all kinds of stresses and strains that they retired to get out of. Doctors will advise patients:

"You've got to slow down on this retirement. What you need is a job."

Being retired—I am practicing on this in vague hopes that I, too, can lay down the shovels someday—requires certain new skills.

A retired man must learn philosophical sayings. Like:

"They don't make beer like they used to. Why, I remember when a schooner of steam beer etc. etc."

Or, "If the Government goes on spending like this, we'll all be broke by Christmas."

Now take a world of 150-year-olds. They are all talking like this—for it is obvious when you retire you must have learned something worth saying.

All the 150-year-olds are remembering when they were tots. And how the world has been going to Hades in a handbasket ever since. The competition for finding things wrong gets frightful. Their medics advise them to give up golf and get a job selling stocks and bonds.

This is what he used to advise them to retire from.

We're right back where we started from. And the world is saved after all.

COLGATE'S ROLE IN NEW TEST FOR CAVITY REDUCTION

In October, 1960, a group of independent dental investigators set out to determine the value of Colgate's Gardol formula in reducing new cavities in the 7 to 17 year age group—the age when teeth are most vulnerable to decay. To make the test the most critical possible, the researchers chose to measure Colgate with its ingredient, Sodium N-Lauroyl Sarcosinate (Gardol), against the leading stannous fluoride toothpaste, which had previously shown effectiveness in cavity reduction. Hundreds of dental patients in the most cavity-prone age group were selected from the student body of a large school in the Southeastern United States. These students were then divided into groups and instructed to use exactly the same dentist-recommended brushing method. For the next two years, one group was to brush only with Colgate's exclusive Gardol formula. Another group only with the leading stannous fluoride toothpaste.

COLGATE'S CLINICAL ACHIEVEMENT IN CAVITY REDUCTION

At the end of two years—over half a million brushings later—supervising dentists carefully checked results, group-for-group. Colgate's Gardol formula against the stannous fluoride formula. So there would be no chance of human error, these dental records were then analyzed and compared by the most advanced electronic computing machines. Statistically, it was discovered that in this test* Colgate with Gardol had achieved the same low incidence of new cavities as the stannous fluoride formula. When you consider that the study was conducted among the most cavity-prone of all age groups, results achieved by the group brushing with Colgate are even more significant. This study—one of many planned to acquaint you and your dentist with the Colgate-Palmolive Company's continuing interest in dental hygiene—shows what today's Colgate Dental Cream can do in reducing tooth decay. Its results are wonderful assurance that even the youngest family member can brush with Colgate... in the complete program of oral hygiene dentists recommend.

YOUR DENTIST'S ROLE IN CAVITY REDUCTION

In announcing the results of this study, the makers of Colgate Dental Cream emphasize their agreement with leading dental authorities that no toothpaste—fluoride or non-fluoride—can substitute for care and treatment of teeth by your family dentist. Seeing your dentist regularly is the most important part of any dental-health program. Important, too, is his advice on diet, as well as how to brush, when to brush, and how often to brush.

Now you can be a "one-toothpaste family" again with best-tasting Colgate... confident Colgate's Gardol formula is clinically tested!

MEADOW LANE

News from Meadow Lane this morning comes from the Richard Baker home where Mr. and Mrs. Baker and their son, Paul, entertained guests from Burwell during the Easter holiday.

Their visitors were Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Banks, who spent Saturday and Sunday with their Lincoln son-in-law and daughter and grandson.

Coffee time came on Thursday last week, and the hostess for the neighborhood coffee-sippers and doughnut-dippers was Mrs. Sidney Kirell. Again, this was a party to welcome another new neighbor to Meadow Lane, and this guest of honor was Mrs. Roscoe Hill.

Mrs. Kirell's other guests were Mrs. Richard Weibye, Mrs. Al Farmer, Mrs. Henry Elias, Mrs. Art Krause, and Mrs. Don Kaelin.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: When I was 16, I married George just to get away from home. He was old enough to be my father and it didn't work out. George left me, but I didn't care. We were never divorced. Then I met Paul. I never knew I could love a man so much. He moved in with me and we were so happy! Then he confessed that he was married and had five children. He is separated from his wife and is fighting to get custody of his children. When I found this out, I told him not to fight so hard. I love Paul, but at my age (23) I don't want to raise five children. Paul says if I really loved him I'd take the children. Maybe I don't love him. I'm all mixed up. Can you help me?

MIXED UP
DEAR MIXED UP: You are still George's wife. And Paul is also still married. You might love Paul, but not enough. First, straighten out your own marital mess. You need Paul and his five children like a drowning man needs water.

DEAR ABBY: We don't know if we are going crazy or if 25,000 other people are, but we just read where an organization is starting a movement to force everyone to DRESS UP their animals! They say it is "immoral" for animals to go around naked in public and, besides, it "confuses" our youngsters. We all had a good laugh over this. Can you picture a farmer getting up at 3 a.m. to put Bermuda shorts on 100 head of cattle?

SUE AND ROY
DEAR SUE AND ROY: You're not. They are.

Negroes Arrested Marching On Jail

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—Police arrested 32 Negro demonstrators Sunday as they marched toward the city jail, where the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. is being held.

The march came within hours after two large Birmingham white churches—the First Baptist and the First Presbyterian—accepted Negro worshippers for Easter services. Three other white churches turned Negroes away.

A crowd of Negroes estimated at 1,000 watched as officers arrested the marchers, led by 4 persons—the Rev. A. D. King, brother of Dr. King; the Rev. Nelson Smith; the Rev. John Porter, and Frank Dukes.

Rocks Thrown

After the prisoners were taken away in paddy wagons, rocks were tossed at police officers. The windshield on one of the police motorcycles was smashed.

Officers quickly moved in to disperse the crowd of Negroes who were shouting, "We want freedom." Officers brandished billy clubs when the crowd surged forward.

Two reporters were ordered off the street and onto the sidewalk.

"Police dogs were in the area, but were not used in contrast with demonstrations

last Sunday when a Negro man lashed at a dog with a knife and the animal turned on him.

Sunday's arrests brought to 260 the number of persons jailed since April 3, when King announced that Birmingham was the desegregation center of the United States.

Charges Listed

The arrests have been for parading without a permit, trespassing after warning, loitering and, in Sunday's case, disturbing the peace.

Sunday's march started from a Negro church. The demonstrators walked about half a block and were cut off by motorcycle patrolmen. The marchers moved through an alley, but police quickly headed them off. Again the marchers veered, but this time they were stopped and arrested.

Asked if they had a permit to parade, a leader said: "We're just out walking."

The march followed desegregation attempts at 5 white churches.

There was a nervous buzz in the First Baptist Church when one Negro man and 4 Negro women were seated.

Three young white women left the church after whispering to a usher. The usher was overheard to say: "You can't blame us."

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass Pass 2 2NT
3 3NT Pass Pass
4 Pass Pass Dble.

Opening lead—ace of hearts.

You wouldn't think this could happen in a national team of four championship—but it did. The deal was played in Jackson, Miss., during the Vanderbilt, three years ago.

Look at the four hands and you see that North-South can make seven clubs. Yet, strange as it seems, the club suit was never bid at either table where the hand was played!

At the first table, the bidding went as shown. North chose to pass second hand, despite his distributional values, and East, playing weak two bids, opened with two spades. The bidding then proceeded as indicated, East becoming declarer at four spades doubled.

North-South could have saved something from the wreckage by defeating the contract a trick, but they failed to find the best defense. South led the ace of hearts and shifted to a low diamond, but when North took the ace, he returned a diamond instead of a heart and East made four spades doubled for a score of 790 points.

At the second table, the bidding went:

West North East South
Pass Pass 2 3
3 6 Pass Pass

Dble.

West led the king of hearts. Declarer took the ace and played the nine of diamonds. When West covered with the ten, declarer ducked, attempting to guard in this way against a 4-1 diamond break.

The plan almost succeeded. West led the queen of hearts which South ruffed. After ruffing a spade in dummy, declarer cashed the ace of diamonds and played a club to the king.

If West had followed suit, South would have made twelve tricks, but West ruffed the club and led a spade to partner's ace. East returned a club and South went down 800.

So the outcome was that the two North-South pairs were respectively minus 790 and 800 points in a hand where they could have scored 2,140 points for a grand slam in clubs.

High-School Youth Faces Slaying Rap

. . . ADMITS KILLING, RAPING SKIER

Reno, Nev. (AP)—A mentally disturbed high-school boy who Utah authorities said tried to strangle a 15-year-old Salt Lake City girl less than two years ago faced murder prosecution in Reno Sunday for the admitted rape-killing of former Olympic skier Sonja McCaskie.

The midnight strangling and subsequent sexual attack and dismemberment of the husky outdoors girl in her Reno apartment just 10 days ago was cleared up in essential detail by the finding of evidence which authorities said might send lanky, louse-haired Thomas Lee Bean, 18, to the Nevada gas chamber.

And, in the course of intensive investigation which led to questioning of scores of men before the case was cracked, probe of old records brought to light the vaguely recalled Salt Lake case.

Unearthed Record

It was Chief Probation Officer James Armantrout, of the Second District Juvenile Court in Salt Lake City, who finally unearthed the record showing that young Bean, then only 16, had entered the sleeping porch of a Salt Lake City neighbor, and "placed his hands around the throat" of a sleeping 15-year-old girl.

"She woke, dug her nails into him and he fled," Armantrout said his files showed. "There is no indication what his intentions were."

"Upon interrogation, he admitted he had assaulted a boy earlier. I don't know what that means."

Boy Lives; Was Shot, In Collision

Laredo, Tex. (UPI)—Little 7-year-old Samuel Karlds of Corpus Christi fought for his life in Mercy Hospital Sunday night after surviving an accidental shooting and a two-car collision while on the way to the hospital.

Easter Sunday meant a family picnic for Samuel, and his family and friends at the J. O. Walker ranch south of Aguilares, 40 miles east of Laredo on the Corpus Christi highway.

Samuel's grandfather, George M. Gaitanos, took time out from the picnic to do some target practicing on cans with his .22-caliber rifle. Samuel, apparently unaware of his grandfather, dashed across the line of fire.

Hit In Temple

The boy's father, Sam. W. Selbee, grabbed up his wounded son, placed him in the family car, and sped toward Laredo.

Selbee did not slow up when he reached the city limits. Frantically blowing the car's horn, he whipped through traffic and ran a red light—and collided with a car driven by Welton Douglas Moore of Denver City, Tex.

Rushed To Hospital

When passerby reached the scene, Selbee told them of his son's wound and the someone—the boy up and rushed him to Mercy Hospital, 8 blocks away.

Doctors rushed Samuel into the emergency room, where he underwent emergency surgery. More than an hour had elapsed between the time Samuel was shot and he underwent surgery.

Doctors said Samuel had a chance of surviving although his condition was listed as very critical. They said the boy had lost a great deal of blood.

Samuel was also treated for minor injuries he received in the collision. Neither the boy's stepfather or Moore was injured.

Christian Pilgrims Celebrate Easter In Holy Land

Jerusalem, Jordan Sector (AP)—Twenty-five thousand Christian pilgrims of different creeds united by faith in the risen Christ celebrated Easter Sunday with joyous hymns near the actual scenes of the Crucifixion and Resurrection Sunday.

Bright spring sunshine warmed the Holy City, where visitors from distant lands knelt for prayers climaxing a week of sometimes hectic religious pagentry.

Sunday morning a little group of Protestants, most of them American, stood before the open crypt beneath the skull-shaped Hill of Rock. Ignoring the hooting of buses in a terminal nearby, they held services outside the city walls of the garden tomb which they believe is the true burial place of Jesus.

New Particle In Atom Gets Confirmation

New York (AP)—Existence of a new sub-atomic particle, predicted by a Japanese scientist last year, is confirmed by two experimenters reporting in the current issue of Physical Review Letters.

The new particle, a phi-meson, was predicted by Dr. Jun John Sakurai, who now works at the University of Chicago. He gave the particle its name and this was adopted by the confirming groups, one at Brookhaven Laboratory on Long Island and the other at the University of California at Berkeley.

The phi-meson is intermediate between an electron and a proton.

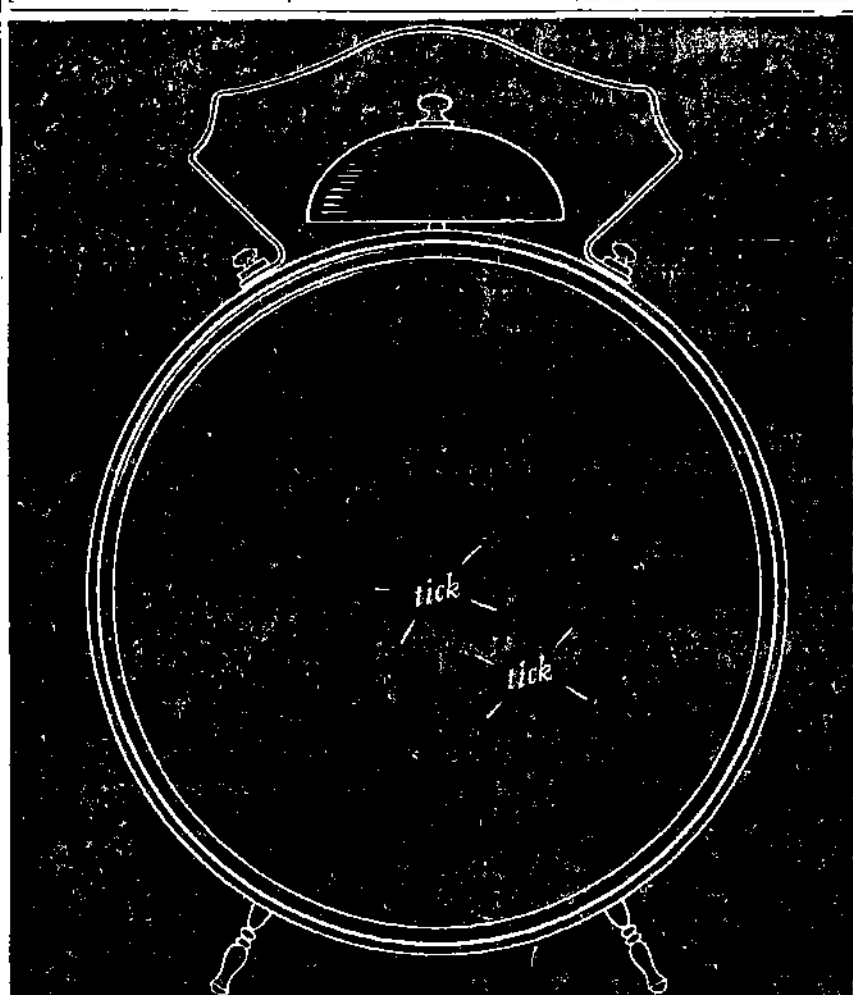

Produced by bombarding liquid hydrogen with K-mesons, it has a life of only two ten-thousandths of one billionth of one billionth of a second.

Negroes Arrested Marching On Jail

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—Police arrested 32 Negro demonstrators Sunday as they marched toward the city jail, where the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. is being held.

The march came within hours after two large Birmingham white churches—the First Baptist and the First Presbyterian—accepted Negro worshipers for Easter services. Three other white churches turned Negroes away.

A crowd of Negroes estimated at 1,000 watched as officers arrested the marchers, led by 4 persons—the Rev. A. D. King, brother of Dr. King; the Rev. Nelson Smith; the Rev. John Porter, and Frank Dukes.

Rocks Thrown

After the prisoners were taken away in paddy wagons, rocks were tossed at police officers. The windshield on one of the police motorcycles was smashed.

Officers quickly moved in to disperse the crowd of Negroes who were shouting, "We want freedom." Officers brandished billy clubs when the crowd surged forward.

Two reporters were ordered off the street and onto the sidewalk.

Police dogs were in the area, but were not used in contrast with demonstrations

last Sunday when a Negro man lashed at a dog with a knife and the animal turned on him.

Sunday's arrests brought to 260 the number of persons jailed since April 3, when King announced that Birmingham was the desegregation center of the United States.

Charges Listed

The arrests have been for parading without a permit, trespassing after warning, loitering and, in Sunday's case, disturbing the peace.

Sunday's march started from a Negro church. The demonstrators walked about half a block and were cut off by motorcycle patrolmen. The marchers moved through an alley, but police quickly headed them off. Again the marchers veered, but this time they were stopped and arrested.

Asked if they had a permit to parade, a leader said: "We're just out walking."

The march followed desegregation attempts at 5 white churches.

There was a nervous buzz in the First Baptist Church when one Negro man and 4 Negro women were seated. Three young white women left the church after whispering to an usher. The usher was overheard to say: "You can't blame us."

The bidding:
West Pass North East South
Pass Pass 2 ♣ 2 NT
3 ♣ 3 NT Pass Pass
4 ♣ Pass Pass Dble.
Opening lead — ace of hearts.

You wouldn't think this could happen in a national team of four championships—but it did. The deal was played in Jackson, Miss., during the Vanderbilt, three years ago.

Look at the four hands and you see that North-South can make seven clubs. Yet, strange as it seems, the club suit was never bid at either table where the hand was played!

At the first table, the bidding went as shown. North chose to pass second hand, despite his distributional values, and East, playing weak two bids, opened with two spades. The bidding then proceeded as indicated, East becoming declarer at four spades doubled.

North-South could have saved something from the wreckage by defeating the contract a trick, but they failed to find the best defense. South led the ace of hearts and shifted to a low diamond, but when North took the ace, he returned a diamond instead of a heart and East made four spades doubled for a score of 790 points.

At the second table, the bidding went:

West North East South
Pass Pass 2 ♣ 2 NT
3 ♣ 3 NT Pass Pass
4 ♣ Pass Pass Dble.
Opening lead — ace of hearts.

West led the king of hearts. Declarer took the ace and played the nine of diamonds. When West covered with the ten, declarer ducked, attempting to guard in this way against a 4-1 diamond break.

The plan almost succeeded. West led the queen of hearts which South ruffed. After ruffing a spade in dummy, declarer cashed the ace of diamonds and played a club to the king.

If West had followed suit, South would have made twelve tricks, but West ruffed the club and led a spade to partner's ace. East returned a club and South went down 800.

So the outcome was that the two North-South pairs were respectively minus 790 and 800 points in a hand where they could have scored 2,140 points for a grand slam in clubs.

High-School Youth Faces Slaying Rap

. . . ADMITS KILLING, RAPING SKIER

Reno, Nev. (AP)—A mentally disturbed high-school boy who Utah authorities said tried to strangle a 15-year-old Salt Lake City girl less than two years ago faced murder prosecution in Reno Sunday for the admitted rape-killing of former Olympic skier Sonja McCaskie.

The midnight strangling and subsequent sexual attack and dismemberment of the husky outdoors girl in her Reno apartment just 10 days ago was cleared up in essential detail by the finding of evidence which authorities said might send lanky, tousle-haired Thomas Lee Bean, 18, to the Nevada gas chamber.

And, in the course of intensive investigation which led to questioning of scores of men before the case was cracked, probe of old records brought to light the vaguely recalled Salt Lake case.

Unearthed Record

It was Chief Probation Officer James Armantrout, of the Second District Juvenile Court in Salt Lake City, who finally unearthed the record showing that young Bean, then only 16, had entered the sleeping porch of a Salt Lake City neighbor, and "placed his hands around the throat" of a sleeping 15-year-old girl.

"She woke, dug her nails into him and he fled," Armantrout said his files showed. "There is no indication what his intentions were."

"Upon interrogation, he admitted he had assaulted a boy earlier. I don't know what that means."

The probation officer said he knew Bean had been given "a psychiatric evaluation and showed up as fairly sick . . . sick enough so our officers took him to St. George when he was turned over to Nevada authorities."

Bean, booked by police for murder in the strangling of Sonja in Reno, seemed indifferent and showed no remorse when he admitted during questioning that he had slipped into the skier's apartment bringing with him a 10-inch knife and a tough length of cord, and choked her to death with it as she slept.

Prowling the quiet residential streets about midnight April 5 in search of women's underthings hanging on clothes lines — he revealed he was in the habit of stealing women's under garments — Bean told of killing her, then raping the dead body and, for several hours thereafter, cutting up the remains.

Country Firefighting Can Be Thrilling

The whole roof has a head start . . . Can firemen—even on the run—catch up?

Oldtime bucket brigade tries keeping up with pumper, but no use.

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Byron — Chasing city fire engines may be OK for kid-size kicks, but try the country for real barn-burners.

What metropolitan pyro, for instance, ever routed out firemen from 3 towns for a blaze that barely lasted an hour? And oh, the warm ecstasy a firebug would find in a funnel of smoke visible for 10 miles!

Hardly thrill-seekers, however, were a couple dozen Byron volunteers recently exploded onto main street by the town siren. The noon-time doings of Hardy and Ruskin firemen were also interrupted, and all went speeding toward the Laverne Knip farm.

No man's foot was heavy enough as, only a couple miles away now, flames flared to twice the height of the big steel-skinned barn.

Some 2,500 gallons of water later—the minutes also measured 12,000 bushels of burnt corn and milo—the granary was but a charred barnyard skeleton. Far into the night, men stood by and marveled that only one other small building had been spared.

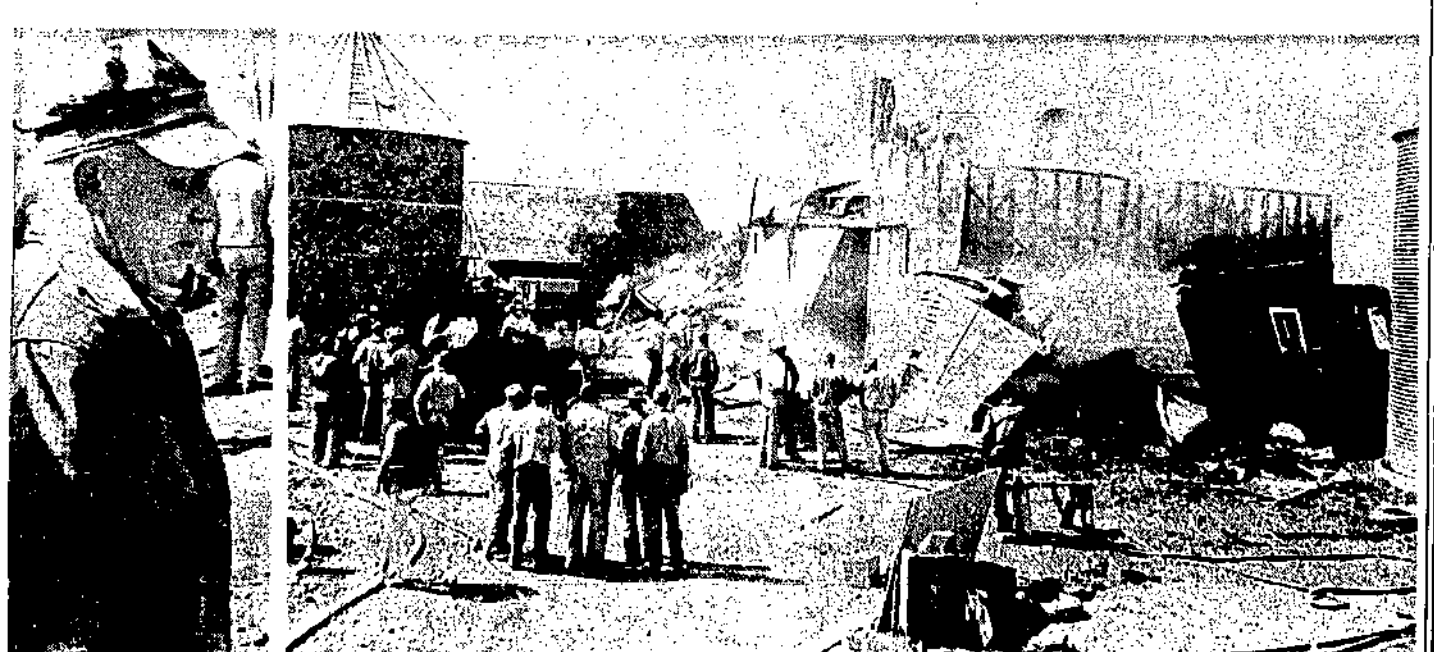

Speculated Murrell Conzelman, hustling Byron chief who blacksmiths when not fire-fighting:

"If this had happened yesterday in that north-west wind . . ."

"Yeah, the house would have got pretty warm," finished Knip, his eyes smoke-filled. "Things could have been worse."

To clip dangerous wires.

Owner Knip . . .

President Hitches Ride On Sailboat

Palm Beach, Fla. (UPI) — President Kennedy hitched a sailboat ride Sunday with a group of youngsters whose speedy vessel had intrigued the chief executive while he was yachting nearby.

"Any chance of getting a ride?" Kennedy shouted to the young men and women aboard the twin-hulled 27-foot sloop "Patty" after waving it alongside his 62-foot yacht, Honey Fitz.

He told them after a 15-minute sail that he thought the ride was "sensational."

A lifelong sailing enthusiast, Kennedy had watched for some time while the "Patty" sped past his yacht at extra-fast speeds made possible by its catamaran design.

Stepped Down
The owed occupants of the "Patty" pulled their vessel next to the Honey Fitz and Kennedy stepped down a ladder into the smaller boat. So did one of his guests, Navy Undersecretary Paul (Red) Fay.

With sails full and Kennedy at the tiller, the craft zoomed away from the Honey Fitz at a speed of about 20 knots and did several turns across half-mile-wide Lake Worth, on the intracoastal waterway.

Accompanying the President and Fay were the 3 men who had been aboard the boat — its owner, Paul Lindenberg, a 28-year-old boating contractor; Charles Graves, 22, a student at Palm Beach Junior College; and Dr. Ivan Schmidt, a surgeon. All are from West Palm Beach.

Women Got Off
There also had been 3 young women aboard — But they got off to make room for the President and Fay and were welcomed aboard the Honey Fitz as guests of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy. These 3 were the Misses Chris Giee 19, and Rita Tedder, 20, both of Palm Beach.

Lenny Bruce In Tears After British Ouster

New York (AP) — American comedian Lenny Bruce reined in tears Sunday from London, saying he was too embarrassed to discuss his rebound ouster from Great Britain in a week.

Bruce had flown to London Saturday and was denied admission and ordered to return to the United States.

Last Sunday the comedian, known for his "sick jokes," flew to London and was denied admission, reportedly because he lacked work papers.

There was no official indication why Bruce was ordered from the country Saturday except his own earlier suggestion that his ouster was because of his arrests in the United States on narcotics and other charges.

Both times Bruce sought entry into Great Britain to appear in a London night club.

On arrival here last week, Bruce was searched by customs agents, who said they were looking for narcotics. Bruce also had been charged earlier with assault and obscenity in his night club act in the United States.

Utica Drive Aims For Nurse Home
Utica (AP) — Solicitation of bond sales aimed at construction of a 50-bed Utica nursing home at an estimated cost of $200,000 was underway Sunday.

Sponsors hope to sell 5-year bonds at 4% interest, and 10-year bonds at 5% interest. The bonds are being issued in the minimum amount of $100.

Plans call for the structure to be one story, fire resistant, with 21 double and 8 single rooms. The building would be modern in structure, with kitchen and dining room facilities.

Artists Quit When Baby Wins Prize
South Gate, Calif. (AP) — When Theresa Bates won one of 10 prizes in an art exhibit, some of the other artists picked up their paintings and went home.

That's because Theresa is 22 months old.

"It's not a work of art, it's a happy accident," said on peevish painter.

The president of the South Gate Art Association said she'd "rather not say" what she thought of Theresa's drawing. But the group promptly changed the rules to exclude children's entries next year.

Judges weren't given ages of entrants this year.

Robert A. Chuey, Chouinard Art Institute teacher and one of two judges at Friday's exhibit, stuck by his choice of Theresa's "expressionistic" black and white drawing.

"I don't care if it was done by an embryo," said Chuey. "It's a good piece of work... beautifully designed, and exciting."

Rev. Katterhenry Funeral Monday

The pastor became ill conducting Good Friday services and died later in a Hastings hospital. He also served as pastor of the Christian Church in Harvard.

Dr. Fred Register of Lincoln will officiate at the services, assisted by the Rev. Robert J. Kasper of Geneva.

Survivors include his widow, Florence, 3 brothers and two sisters. Further services and burial will be Wednesday at New Knoxville, Ohio.

Mother's Smoking Affects Fetus

Chicago (U)—Women who smoke during pregnancy tend to have babies which are smaller or more frequently premature, a doctor reported Sunday.

Dr. Jay R. Zabriskie based his conclusion on a study of 2,000 consecutive single births at Tripler Army Hospital, Honolulu, Hawaii, between November 1960 and May 1961.

Of the mothers, 957 were smokers and 1,043 nonsmokers.

Writing in the current Obstetrics and Gynecology, official journal of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, he said:

1. Women who smoked during pregnancy had babies averaging 1/2 pound less than babies of mothers who did not smoke during pregnancy — 6 pounds 13 ounces compared with 7 pounds 5 ounces.

2. Prematurity was 2 1/2 times more frequent among mothers who smoked — 9.93 percent compared 3.83 percent for nonsmokers.

3. Women who smoked had a higher incidence of spontaneous abortion or miscarriage — 12.6 percent compared with 8.8 percent for nonsmokers.

4. No real difference was found in weight gained during pregnancy between the two groups.

5. "It appears that the effect of smoking upon the fetus (unborn infant) is the result of smoking during the pregnancy, rather than due to long-term or chronic change."

Wind Foils South Dakotans' Balloon Demonstration Try

By RODNEY ANGOVE
Pais (AP)—The wind Sunday blew away an attempted demonstration flight by balloonists from Sioux Falls, S.D. who made history by flying over the English Channel on hot air.

There was too much wind at the airport near Paris where they tried to get their 40-foot diameter bag aloft.

Saturday it was calm on the ground in Rye, England, when they blew the plastic-impregnated ball full of hot air and drifted upward to catch southbound currents.

"The wind takes away the heat of the bag almost as fast as we blow it in," James R. Smith explained Sunday. "It is difficult to get it inflated enough to move with the breeze."

Smith and 4 other balloonists, all from Sioux Falls, waited 4 hours for a calm moment as a crowd of 1,000 gathered.

"In England we waited 8 days," said Don Piccard, one of the two men aboard during the channel crossing. Piccard is the son of the late balloon pioneer, Jean Piccard.

Celtics Win Opener Of Playoff

Boston (AP)—Tommy Heinsohn scored two climactic baskets in the waning seconds as Boston pulled out a 117-114 victory over Los Angeles Sunday night in the opening game of the National Basketball Association championship playoffs.

A game which began somewhat sloppily ended in a hectic flurry with the score tied 3 times and the lead changing 3 more times in the final quarter.

The score was knotted 110-all when Bill Russell converted one of two free throws and made it 111-110 with only 1 minute 42 seconds remaining. The Lakers' great Jerry West, a superb performer along with Elgin Baylor and Dick Barnett, cut down court under the basket. As he went into the air, Heinsohn blocked the shot, got the ball and went the length of the court for a layup with 70 seconds left.

Russell rebounded a Barnett miss and moments later Sam Jones captured the ball when Rudy Larusso missed on a drive-in.

On the latter, Sam fired the length of the court and Heinsohn made it 115-110 with 37 seconds on the clock.

On the same play, Russell collapsed from exhaustion and a whack on the chin and was helped from the floor. But by that time, he had helped break down the Western Division champions with 25 points and 29 rebounds.

Heinsohn scored two more free throws, one after the final buzzer, to nail down the verdict.

Baylor was the game's high scorer with 33 points, while West and Barnett added 25 apiece. Heinsohn, held below his usual total, managed 19 points with 10 in the final period.

Sam Jones was Boston's ace marksman with 29 points and pulled down 15 rebounds.

McGuire Resigns As Piston Mentor

New York (AP)—Dick McGuire confirmed reports Sunday that he had submitted his resignation as coach of the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association.

McGuire, 37, said he would seek a high school or college coaching job in New York. McGuire is a native of New York, played college basketball at St. John's, and starred for the New York Knickerbockers in the NBA before moving to Detroit late in his career.

This year, his 3rd full season as head coach, McGuire's Pistons won 34 games and lost 46, finished 3rd in the Western Division and were eliminated by the St. Louis Hawks in the playoffs.

It was the 4th straight loss for the Rhinelanders, who twice loaded the bases but couldn't put over a run on McBean. They left 12 men stranded.

Joey Jay, who took his second one-run loss in a row, gave up only 5 hits and struck out 5 in 8 innings.

Leadoff walk to Bob Skinner started the Pirates to their only run. Singles by Smoky Burgess and Donn Clendenon set up Bill Virdon's bases-loaded single for the score.

In addition to the two-bases-loaded spots, McBean thrice got out of trouble with two Redlegs on base. He fanned 5 and walked only one.

—KOUFAX IS LOSER—

Colts Nip Dodgers With Rally In 6th

Houston (AP)—The Houston Colts bunched half of their 8 hits and took advantage of Dodger errors to score 4 runs off Sandy Koufax in the 6th inning Sunday and slip past the Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-4. The victory gave the Colts the series, 2-1.

Don McMahon relieved his one-time Milwaukee teammate Don Nottebart with the tying and winning runs on base in the top of the 8th, and protected the win. He got pinch hitter Junior Gilliam to hit into a force play to retire the side.

Nottebart lasted 7 2-3 innings to record his first Houston victory. He struck out 4 and walked one.

The Dodgers gathered 11 hits off the two Colt right-handers, but left runners on base in all but two innings. Nate Oliver singled for the last Dodger hit with one out in the 9th, went to second on a ground-out and to 3rd when plate umpire Ken Burkhardt called a balk on McMahon, which the Colts hotly protested.

But the dangerous Tommy Davis then fled to Howie Goss in straightaway center for the final out.

Koufax, who had a 4-1 lead going into the 6th, suffered his first 1963 defeat against one victory. He has never beaten the Colts, and had 4 starts without a decision against them last year.

In the 6th Pete Runnels led off with a single, and Carl Warwick was safe when Oliver dropped a throw at second on a possible double play and the 4 runs resulted.

JACKRABBITS INFIELD READY

South Dakota State's infield, described as "one of the best we've had" by coach Erv Huether, will be in Lincoln today, Tuesday and Wednesday for a 3-game set against the Nebraska team at the NU field.

—COMMISSION CHAIRMAN DISCUSSES FEUD—

Ellis Says Commission Doesn't Plan To Yield

Alliance (UPI)—The chairman of the Nebraska Game Commission indicated Sunday Nebraska will stand pat on its recently-adopted policy of denying South Dakota fishermen access to the Gavins Point Dam tailwaters near Yankton, S. D.

Wade Ellis of Alliance said the commission "does not plan on giving an inch" despite an appeal by Governor Morrison for reconsideration of the matter.

"We just don't feel there is anything to negotiate with South Dakota in the area," Ellis told United Press International.

Morrison Friday sent letters to each member of the commission, asking they rescind the policy because it was generating ill-will between the states.

But Ellis said, "only a small minority of South Dakotans are complaining about our stand. In fact, some South Dakota fishermen have already complied with the regulation and have purchased Nebraska permits."

The fish-rich tailwaters, Ellis said, "are not in South Dakota by any stretch of the imagination and under state law, the commission is bound to enforce Nebraska regulations in the area."

Ellis said the boundary waters dispute will be discussed at the commission's regular monthly meeting Friday in Lincoln, but added: "We have made our position clear and do not plan on backtracking at this time."

Ellis said the commission is "definitely against" Nebraska and South Dakota entering a friendly lawsuit with the U.S. Supreme Court in an effort to determine the boundary. "Why should we have to go to the Supreme Court when our own attorney general has assured us we are correct," he said.

Ellis said he has discussed the fishing war with state game chief M. O. Steen since Morrison made his plea to the commissioners, "and we both agree that the commission is operating fully within its rights and does not have to reverse its stand."

Morrison expressed fear that South Dakota officials would arrest or sue Nebraska game wardens for illegal arrests of South Dakota fishermen unless the dispute was halted.

"I don't think there's any chance of that," Ellis said. "Our game warden will not be doing anything illegally if any arrests are made in the tailwaters area."

Ellis said he does not know of any arrests yet. "The wardens are issuing warnings right now, but this will not go on forever," he said.

Small school athletes made the biggest dent in high school field events last week. Six Class C and D tracksters have stepped into the top 10 performances in the 5 field events.

There were no new leaders, however.

Class D high jumpers Steve Krebs of Diller and Dennis Colson of Elsie registered 6-0 jumps to pace the newcomers.

Other new faces in the high jump list are Dick Braesch of Bennington (Class C) and Richard Hoins of Guide Rock (Class D) with 5-11 jumps and North Platte sophomore Dale Chase at 6-0 1/4.

Other small school entrants to the top 10s are Grant broad-jumper Gary Cockerill at 21-3 and Millard discus thrower, Dean Godbersson with a 144-11 effort.

While the leaders remained safely in front, the challengers in the weight events improved during the week.

KC Starts Drive To Sell Tickets; Get Dallas Texans

Kansas City, Mo., (UPI)—A kickoff luncheon will be held Monday to start Kansas City's campaign to sell 25,000 season tickets to bring the Dallas Texans of the American Football League here.

Texans owner Lamar Hunt and others of the professional team, as well as league commissioner Joe Foss will attend the luncheon.

Hunt has said he must be guaranteed advanced sale of 25,000 season tickets before he will move his team to Kansas City.

Some 2,000 persons, including 1400 in Kansas City, are taking part in the campaign, headed by former Kansas football star Ray Evans.

Teams have been organized to sell the tickets, not only in the Kansas City area, but at Salina, Wichita and Hutchinson, Kan.; Springfield and Joplin, Mo.; Oklahoma City and Tulsa; Des Moines and at Omaha and Lincoln, Neb.

Cubs End SF Win Streak

Chicago (AP)—Right-hander Larry Jackson checked San Francisco's power brigade and hurled the Chicago Cubs to a 3-1 victory Sunday.

It was the first loss for the defending National League champions who had slugged 9 home runs in winning their first 4 games.

Jackson, who lost to Los Angeles opening day, didn't allow an earned run but was lifted in the 9th with two out after the Giants scored an unearned run.

Until the 9th, Jackson had allowed a 3rd-inning single to pitcher Juan Marichal and an 8th-inning double to Felipe Alou. Chuck Hiller opened the 9th with a fly ball to right which Lou Brock dropped for a two-base error. Jackson retired Jim Davenport and Willie Mays before Willie McCovey doubled to spoil the shutout.

Lindy McDaniel replaced Jackson. Orlando Cepeda beat out a hit to deep short and then got Tom Haller to ground out to end the game.

Ron Santo, elevated to cleanup man this season, led the Cub offense. He singled to open the second and scored on Ernie Banks' double and then hit the first Cub homer of the season to lead off the 4th. Chicago's 3rd run came in the 8th on a double by Andre Rodgers and two wild pitches by reliever Bob Bolin. Although the Cubs have won only two of their 5 games, their pitching staff has a collective earned run average of 1.20 and in 3 of the games the opponents have failed to score an earned run.

Williams, whose forte is a blazing fast ball, then reared back and threw 3rd strikes past Dick Brown and pinch hitter Bob Savarine to end the threat.

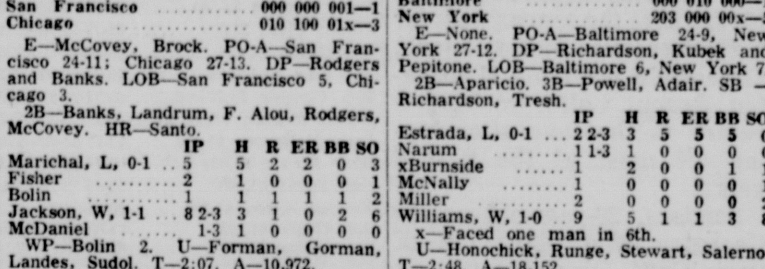

The Yankees scored all their runs in the first 3 innings against starter and loser Chuck Estrada.

The Yankees chased Estrada in the 3rd, scoring 3 times on 3 walks and a pair of singles.

Mickey Mantle was out of the Yankee line-up with a strained abdomen and Roger Maris continued to rest his left leg after pulling a muscle two weeks ago.

... CARDINALS BEATEN TWICE

St. Louis (P) — Jack Baldschun won both games in relief Sunday as the Philadelphia Phillies nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in 10 innings and 5-4.

The pair of Philie triumphs not only ended St. Louis' shut-out streak at 5 games — including the last two games of the 1962 season — but boosted the Phils into a first place tie in the National League with San Francisco and Pittsburgh. Each has a 4-1 record.

Don Demeter's 9th-inning single off loser Ron Taylor drove in the winning run, which was unearned, in the nightcap. Earl Averill's shallow sacrifice fly with the bases loaded off loser Bobby Shantz won the opener in the 10th.

Counting the last 21 innings of last season, Cardinal pitchers had run up a string of 53 scoreless innings before the Philies scored in the 6th of the opener.

Chris Short of Philadelphia had a 3-0 lead and a two-hitter going into the 7th inning of the opener. The Cardinals scored twice in the 8th and Charley James tied the score with a homer in the 9th.

Starter Ray Sadecki, who fanned 10, enjoyed a 4-0 lead in the second game until Tony Taylor hit a two-run homer in the 7th and Demeter hit a solo homer in a two-run hit. Ruben Amaro's single off Diomedes Olivo tied the score. Dick Groat's error led to the winning rally in the 9th.

GRANT DOWN . . . Indians pitcher Jim (Mudcat) Grant writhes in pain after being hit by Jim Bunning's line drive.

Cleveland Snaps Loss String At 3

Cleveland (P) — Little Vic Davalillo hit his first American League home run Sunday, a two-run blow over the right field fence, as the Cleveland Indians defeated Detroit 6-0 and ended a 3-game losing streak.

It was the second victory of the season for Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts' rookie-laden squad, who hadn't won since they took a 5-4 opening-day victory at Minneapolis.

Tony Martinez, another prize rookie, had 3 singles, and young Max Alvis had two singles.

Starter Jim Grant was injured in the 5th inning when hit by a line drive off the bat of opposing pitcher Jim Bunning. The Tribe hurler, who won the Indians' only other victory, fell to the ground in pain and was replaced by Jerry Walker.

Reports were the injury was not serious.

Detroit (P) — The sad sack New York Mets have a new look this year.

Instead losing their games 12-11, 10-8 and 14-12 as last year, they'll be losing them 3-0, 4-1 and 3-2.

"We got a better defense," says Casey Stengel, "But I don't know who's gonna drive in the runs."

So, to get a few runs, Casey has coined a new word for an old weapon.

"The men who haven't learned to hit in two or three years of playing ball will have to learn buntation," says Ole Case.

Buntation? "Anything so they don't strike out," Stengel more or less explains. "Bunt, hit and run, slap the ball — buntation."

"Nothing is more disgraceful than for a major league hitter to strike out. You don't see anybody shake hands with a batter which just struck out. They maybe shake hands with the pitcher, but not the batter."

These continue to be trying days for the 72-year-old sage of the dugouts.

Originally, he conceived the brilliant, if unoriginal idea, of loading up a lineup of speed

Stock Car Driver Killed In Crash In Tennessee

Cleveland, Tenn. (P) — Stock car driver J. C. Hendrix was injured fatally Saturday night when he lost control of his car on a turn and crashed into a fence at Cleveland Speedway.

The 36-year-old Griffin, Ga., driver was dead on arrival at a hospital. His car was demolished.

Counting the last 21 innings of last season, Cardinal pitchers had run up a string of 53 scoreless innings before the Philies scored in the 6th of the opener.

Chris Short of Philadelphia had a 3-0 lead and a two-hitter going into the 7th inning of the opener. The Cardinals scored twice in the 8th and Charley James tied the score with a homer in the 9th.

Starter Ray Sadecki, who fanned 10, enjoyed a 4-0 lead in the second game until Tony Taylor hit a two-run homer in the 7th and Demeter hit a solo homer in a two-run hit. Ruben Amaro's single off Diomedes Olivo tied the score. Dick Groat's error led to the winning rally in the 9th.

Kansas City Gains Victory Over Twins

Kansas City (P) — Kansas City knocked out Camilo Pascual in a 5-run 4th inning and held on behind Orlando Pena's relief pitching for a 5-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins Sunday. The A's swept the 3-game series.

Manny Jimenez stroked a 3-run double down the left field line, then Jose Tartabull belted a two-run triple to left center to finish Pascual. All the scoring came after two were out.

Pascual was riding a 3-0 lead and struck out the first two batters in the 4th before his collapse. Ed Charles singled to start it, then Pascual walked Gino Cimoli and Bill Bryan. Jimenez doubled, Dick Hower walked and T a t a b u l l tripled.

Pena, a slender right-hander, permitted just one run and 5 hits in 5 innings. A pinch double by rookie Paul Ratliff and Lenny Green's single pulled the Twins within a run in the 6th. Pena now stands 1-0, Pascual 0-2.

Bob Allison, 3-for-4 for the Twins, belted a two-run homer in the first and starter Diego Segui's error gave them a run in the second.

Minnesota (P) — The Milwaukee Braves will operate with 7 farm teams in 1963. Their Triple A working agreements are with Denver in the Pacific Coast League and Toronto in the International League.

Kline Sparkles In Senators' Victory

... 6TH INNING RALLY DECIDES

Washington (P) — Ron Kline's sparkling 4-inning relief job helped the Washington Senators to a 7-6 victory over the Boston Red Sox Sunday and a 2-1 edge in the series.

Carl Bouldin was the winner, but Kline was outstanding of the 9 pitchers used, 6 by the Red Sox.

The Senators came from behind to score 4 runs in the 6th and pin the loss on Hal Klotz, second of the Boston pitchers. Ed Brinkman's triple scored Ken Retzer with what proved to be the winning run.

Chuck Hinton had 4 of Ingot's 11 hits, including a double and triple while Carl Yastrzemski had 4 straight hits for Boston before Kline, a Detroit Tiger cast-off, struck him out in the 9th.

Boston's Bob Tillman hit the only homer, a 3rd inning blast off Bennie Daniels that tied the score. The Red Sox took a 5-2 lead in the 4th with 4 unearned runs off Daniels on 3 singles, two Washington errors and two sacrifices, one a squeeze bunt.

Store-Bought Egg Wins Cracking Title

Peters Hollow, Tenn. (UPI) —A rock-hard egg bought at a country store on Stone Creek emerged Sunday as the winner of the annual Peters Hollow Easter egg cracking contest.

Jerry Peters, a 25-year-old mountain man who has been competing in the centuries-old event since he was a "little shaver," was proud owner of the tough little tippler which won out over an estimated 12,000 other hard-boiled eggs.

Peters was among the first to arrive in Raymond Love's front yard, traditional arena for the Easter morning contest. He had about 20 dozen eggs, considered a "fair supply."

Before the day was over, about 500 persons had competed in the egg-cracking contest which, according to legend, began almost 100 years ago. The story is that the

Store-Bought Egg Wins Cracking Title

Peters Hollow, Tenn. (UPI)—A rock-hard egg bought at a country store on Stony Creek emerged Sunday as the winner of the annual Peters Hollow Easter egg cracking contest.

Jerry Peters, a 25-year-old mountain man who has been competing in the centuries-old event since he was a "little shaver," was proud owner of the tough little pippin which won out over an estimated 12,000 other hard-boiled eggs.

Peters was among the first to arrive in Raymond Lowe's front yard, traditional arena for the Easter morning contest. He had about 20 dozen eggs, considered a "fair supply."

Before the day was over, about 500 persons had competed in the egg-cracking contest which, according to legend, began almost 100 years ago. The story is that the men of Rome Hollow on one side of the Watauga Valley challenged the met of Peters Hollow on the other side to find out whose hens laid the hardest eggs.

The rules require the challenger to hold his egg, small end up, in the cup of his hand. His opponent taps it with the small end of his own egg and the one that cracks loses.

The fact that Peters' eggs were "store bought" did nothing to detract from his achievement. Many of the folks here have given up trying to raise their own eggs and those purchased in groceries are quite acceptable.

Peters is a second-generation champion. His father, Paul Peters, won the event in 1960.

This year's contest was almost called off. Magistrate Gilbert Peters, a longtime competitor who had already put in a good stock of fighting eggs, died Friday. His funeral was held this afternoon about a half-mile from the scene of the contest.

Peters' friends said they knew he "would have wanted it to go on."

Stevenson Says 'Anti-Americanism' Just Irritation

New York (UPI)—Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, came home from a 3-week tour of Europe and Morocco Sunday night saying, "The so-called anti-Americanism is no more than the usual irritation among friends."

"The unanimity of basic objectives in defense gives us a firm basis for continuing cooperation," he said. "While everyone doesn't agree on means, there is no disagreement on ends such as the importance of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the United Nations and disarmament."

"There is great awareness of our interdependence and little distrust of our determination to defend Europe," he told reporters upon arrival by plane from Madrid. He said in Madrid that he would report to President Kennedy, probably Monday.

Stevenson, who traveled in France, Britain, Belgium, Berlin, Morocco and Spain, is scheduled to address the Pan American Union in Washington Monday.

Spy Sent To Lawyer For Rare Volumes

... AS PAYMENT FOR SAVING HIS LIFE

New York (UPI)—James B. Donovan has received payment of a legal fee from behind the Iron Curtain, but he has no idea how much it is worth.

The Brooklyn Lawyer, currently engaged in getting refugees out of Cuba, revealed Sunday that Col. Rudolf Abel, Russian spy who was exchanged for U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, had sent him a priceless gift. It is two volumes of 16th-century commentaries on the Justinian Law codes, bound in vellum.

Donovan was named by the Brooklyn Bar Association to defend Abel on spy charges. He did not succeed in winning an acquittal for the master spy of the Soviet Union, but he saved him from the death penalty by obtaining a prison sentence.

Subsequently Donovan went to Berlin and negotiated the exchange of Abel and Powers. When Donovan said goodbye to Abel on a bridge leading to East Berlin, he assumed he would never hear from him again.

Last August Donovan said Sunday, a Russian courier showed up atCheckpoint Charlie in Berlin, where American and Soviet Force confront each other, and handed a package to the U.S. officer in command. He stipulated that it should be delivered to Donovan.

When Donovan opened the package, he found it contained a letter from Abel, which said in part:

"While neither a lawyer nor a book collector, I believe that the enclosed package should be a welcome addition to the library of any lawyer who collects rare books... Please accept them as a mark of my gratitude for all that you have done for me."

Donovan was unable to place a valuation on the two books and he says he certainly has no intention of putting them on the market to find out how much they are worth.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
